Sam Aiken Caught By Houston Police On Salesman's Tip

Escaped Condemned Double Murderer Captured Living With Wife of Year; Waives Extradition, Slayer Says.

REPORTER TALKS TO ARRESTED MAN

In Texas Over Year, As-sets Prisoner Over Telephone; Left Fred Fair After Daring Escape.

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 4.—(P)—Sam F. Aiken, who 18 months ago saved his way out of Fulton Tower, at Atlanta, Ga., where he was awaiting execution for the murder of his wife and Boyce Hunter, was captured here late today as the result of a detective story magazine picture. The 43-year-old house painter was arrested at his home here where he was living with his wife who he married about a year ago under the name of Sam Shaw. Police officers were taken to the home by a door-to-door salesman, who knew him as Shaw and recognized the picture in a story published in the magazine. Aiken readily admitted his identity and signed a waiver of extradition. Aiken resolutely refused to talk to newspapermen and appeared incensed when they approached him.

As soon as the Associated Press bulletined from Houston news of the capture of Sam F. Aiken there late Thursday afternoon, The Constitution obtained a long distance wire to the Texas city and through the courtesy of the Houston police this reporter had over the telephone the only interview granted by the prisoner. After he had concluded his conversation over the telephone Aiken refused to see Houston newspapermen for pose for photographs. "Of course I'm sorry to be caught," Aiken told this reporter. "I have been over a year and have worked all I could. I worked at my trade of painting most of the time but for a while I had half-interest in a restaurant and would be in good circumstances today if I had not taken ill just before Christmas." Aiken said he did not expect to fight extradition. "What's the use?" he countered when questioned along that line. "No one ever beats one of those cases, and I guess there is nothing left for me to do but go back to Georgia and bear the music." Hearing the music is a prisoner's term for taking his punishment. Aiken revealed that he was just recovering from the illness which had him in bed since before Christmas. "I was feeling better today than I had for months," he declared. "Then the police had to come." Aiken's wife was at the jail while he was talking. No charges were made against her. From the Houston police it was learned that when she married Aiken she was the widow of Fred Fair.

FREEZING WAVE HITS CITY TODAY

Several Days of Cold Weather Coming Out of Southwest.

Fair, freezing weather will be Atlanta's portion of the chilled meteorological offering which winter will hand Dixie today, according to a general weather survey made Thursday by C. P. von Herrmann, United States weather observer here. Temperatures will begin this morning from the 31-degree mark on local thermometers and the range, if any, will be downward. The cold snap will remain several days, the forecaster said. Starting in Texas and Arkansas, the freezing spell is spreading rapidly over the rest of the deep south and, if the forecaster's calculations are accurate, will have reached this section by the time most Atlantans have arisen this morning. Some indication of real freezing weather was seen Thursday following a brief but thorough shower which drenched most of the city, and temperatures began to slide downward. The day began with a 64-degree reading on the official thermometer, and, hour by hour, slid lower, until Thursday night witnessed crisp, cold weather. Although expectations are for sub-freezing temperatures, the forecaster Thursday insisted that no extreme cold wave is anticipated. "Just moderately cold weather will stay with us for a few days," von Herrmann said.

Augustan Is Named As Knight of Malta

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 4.—(P)—A. E. Martin, manager of the Bon Air-Vanderbilt hotel, today said he had been notified of his appointment by Pope Pius XI as Knight of Malta. Mr. Martin is the second in the south to be thus honored, the first appointment having been given to Jack J. Spaulding, Atlanta attorney.

Ardent Detective Story Reader Will Get $950 Reward for Aiken

A house-to-house canvasser with a keen memory for faces and a weakness for detective stories brought about the arrest of Sam Aiken, it was revealed over long distance telephone Thursday night by Superintendent Percy Heard, of the Houston police department.

W. B. McClain, the salesman, told Heard that about six or eight months ago he ate his meals at a small lynch room where Aiken was part owner and cook. For some time, however, he had been dining elsewhere, McClain said. Wednesday night he was reading, in a detective story magazine, of the spectacular escape of Aiken and Fred Fair.

McClain said he scrutinized the photograph of Aiken with which the story was illustrated, and recognized it as the man who cooked in the lynch room where he formerly had taken his meals. McClain, somewhat of an amateur detective himself, began a systematic bit of sleuthing. He visited the lynch room, but found Aiken had left the place. "Through his own amateur detective work," said Superintendent Heard, "McClain traced Aiken to his recently established home in Woodland Heights and then came to us for assistance. I took several men and went to the house with McClain. There we found Aiken. He did not seem surprised to see us, offered no resistance and readily admitted his identity and said he was willing to go back to Georgia." Business had been bad for McClain, the salesman. B. his alert memory in all probability will net him the $950 reward outstanding for Aiken's capture.

Drunkenness Charge Filed on Policeman

Traffic Patrolman R. O. Eddleman, 34, of 1088 Colquitt avenue, N. E., was locked up late Thursday night after he was arrested in front of his home on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct by Night Chief Charles Connolly and Captain A. J. Holcombe upon complaint of persons residing in the neighborhood that he was creating a disturbance. Eddleman was found in his automobile, parked in front of his home. Eddleman, who is qualified for the office of chief of police and whose name has been mentioned as a possible successor to James L. Beavers, will be given a hearing in recorder's court this afternoon. Chief Beavers is expected to prefer departmental charges against him today.

YOUTHS KIDNAP CHIEF OF POLICE

MACON, Ga., Feb. 4.—(P)—Two youths, still in their teens, who spread a reign of terror over middle Georgia since last midnight, are behind the bars at police headquarters tonight, booked on charges of "loitering and a chain of robberies, kidnappings and automobile thefts. Chief of Police Ben T. Watkins said that other formal charges would be listed against the men. They gave the names of J. M. Wilson, 17, and A. T. Wheelis, 19, both of College Park. Police claim that both are on probation from Fulton county for highway robberies in that city.

The reign of the bandits began last midnight in front of a fashionable apartment house in this city, when J. P. Wheeler was kidnapped in his own automobile, robbed of his cash, watch and automobile. It came to a climax with the kidnapping of Chief of Police Scott Rievore.

British Government Decrees General 10 Per Cent Tariff

BY FRANK H. KING.
LONDON, Feb. 4.—(P)—In an historic session of commons today, Great Britain's free trade policy, the nation's fiscal cornerstone for a century, was thrown overboard by Neville Chamberlain, who wore the mantle of his famous father, Joseph, as he proclaimed the financial revolution. On March 1 a general tariff of 10 per cent will be levied on all British imports with the exception of wheat, meat, fish, grain, cotton and wool under the national government's program.

A tariff commission something like that of the United States will be established to levy additional duties up to 100 per cent. Preferential treatment for British dominions will be worked out at an imperial conference in Ottawa in June but meanwhile the dominions will be unaffected. Existing tariffs such as the present levy of 33 1-2 per cent on automobiles, known as the McKenna duties, will remain unaffected as will present duties on tobacco, tea, sugar and coffee. The main object of this fiscal revolution was to correct Britain's adverse balance of trade of $500,000,000 and to give further impetus to a new spirit of British empire unity. In its long history the house of commons has rarely witnessed a scene such as the one which came late this afternoon when Chamberlain made his two-hour speech. He ended in an

Three Points of Peace Plan Given Conditional Approval While Tokyo Rejects Others

Despite Heavy Fighting in Shanghai, Washington Officials Profess To Be More Hopeful of Early End to Strife.

ARBITRATION ROAD HELD STILL OPEN

Arrival of Nomura Expected To Steady Relations Between Nipponese and Americans.

BY CHAS. STEPHENSON SMITH.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(P)—Japan definitely left the door open for further negotiations in delivering to Ambassador Forbes and the ambassadors of Great Britain, France and Italy at Tokyo its refusal to accept two of five American-British peace proposals.

In a message to the department of state accompanying a digest of the Japanese reply Forbes said Foreign Minister Yoshizawa told him Japan will be glad to consider further proposals from the powers which are endeavoring to bring about peace in Shanghai. Secretary Stimson will not formulate a reply to Japan tonight, and possibly not even tomorrow, as it will be necessary for him to confer with other interested powers and make a thorough analysis of the digest of the Japanese reply before preparing any counter-proposals.

The terms of the reply were made public in Tokyo yesterday. Consequently through the press dispatches the state department had the essentials of the Japanese position.

This is that Japan cannot agree to discontinuing preparations to defend its forces in Shanghai and will not consent to have the Manchurian question linked with the Shanghai situation for the purposes of negotiations. The nation is willing, however, to end hostilities, withdraw from the fighting area and establish a neutral zone about the International Settlement.

In short Japan accepts three points of the American-British peace plan and rejects two. It was hoped by American officials that Japan would

Wrecked Air Liner, Eight Bodies Found

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—(P)—Victims of a terrific storm, the Century Pacific air liner which vanished a week ago en route here from Bakersfield, Cal., was found today in the Tehachapi mountains four miles northwest of Lebec, charred funeral pyre holding the bodies of Pilot J. V. Sandblom and his seven passengers.

The wreckage was found by Paul Apodaca, Tejon ranch worker, on the north slope of Johnson canyon. Apodaca said he could see what he believed to be the bodies of the passengers huddled in the cabin. Search from the air for the army bombing airplane which vanished in a storm Monday with Lieutenant Edward A. Hoffman was halted late today because of gathering clouds.

Roosevelt Attitude Consistent Toward League, Says Hitchcock

There is nothing inconsistent in Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt's recent declaration that he is not in favor of the United States joining the League of Nations as the League is at present constituted, with his advocacy of membership in the League in 1920, the man who led the senate fight for entrance into the League declared in Atlanta Thursday. Former Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, of Nebraska, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the senate during the second Wilson administration and floor leader of the Wilson forces in the losing senate battle, breaking a train trip from Omaha, where he publishes the World-Herald, leading denunciations daily between Chicago and the Rockies, to Florida by an overday stop in Atlanta, himself opposes membership in the League as it exists and functions today.

"The League Woodrow Wilson brought back from Europe and the League today are unrecognizable," said Mr. Hitchcock. "One was a concert of nations for settling world difficulties and curing world ills. The other is purely an European political group. One was in its every sense altruistic. The other seems to be nothing but a horse-trading proposition." "I don't know what effect Mr. Roosevelt's announcement of belief will have. But I am sure it should meet with the approval of all Americans."

Day's Developments In Sino-Jap Crisis

By the Associated Press.

Heavy guns churned the ruins of the Chapei section of Shanghai today in a desperate Japanese attempt to clear out its Chinese defenders as seven more United States destroyers steamed into the harbor from Manila to protect American defenses.

In far-off Manchuria, Japanese troops occupied Harbin after routing Chinese forces under Ting Gao, leader hostile to Japan, in a smashing artillery and infantry battle, giving the Japanese full sway in the Chinese territory.

Japanese shells fell around the Harbin headquarters of the Chinese Eastern railway, where Chinese had planned to hold a meeting to discuss the Japanese bombing planes west of the city. Japanese planes were flying low, spraying the Chinese defenders with machine gun bullets and dropping bombs. It was the severest assault of the entire fighting and was believed to be Japan's supreme effort to drive Chinese out of their positions. Chinese troops, however, were holding their ground.

Artillery shells from the battle of Chapei were reported to have fallen within residential areas past. Continued in Page 6, Column 7.

ARMS BODY AVOIDS SINO-JAP QUESTION

Americans Avert Embarrassing Situation Precipitated by Spaniard.

BY ANDRUE BERDING.
GENEVA, Feb. 4.—(P)—The Sino-Japanese dispute suddenly entered the limelight before the world disarmament conference today, but was just as suddenly whisked off the stage without serious issue.

The far eastern trouble was brought into focus by Dr. Salvador De Madariaga, the Spanish delegate, who tried to blackball a Japanese who had been proposed for one of the vice presidencies of the world gathering.

The American delegation became involved when the noted Spaniard, apparently intent on punishing Japan for activities in China, intimated he had the support of the American representatives. Apprised of the fact that Dr. De Madariaga was canvassing the delegates in his blackball effort, Hugh Gibson of the American delegation promptly made a public visit to the Japanese delegation in China, intimating he had the support of the American representatives. M. Matsudaira was assured that there was no effort by the Americans to deprive him of a seat. Shortly thereafter the commission adopted the report of the procedure committee and the Japanese were

FIRE AGAIN MENACE FOR FOREIGN AREA

Division of 11,000 Soldiers Will Replace 5,000 Japanese Marines and Sailors in Battle Region.

BY MORRIS J. HARRIS.

(Copyright, 1932, by The Associated Press.)
SHANGHAI, Feb. 5.—(Friday)—Seven United States destroyers steamed into Shanghai harbor today to hear guns of China and Japan roaring in the biggest battle yet for mastery of the devastated city.

Judging from the thunder of the guns, the Japanese were using six-inch projectiles in their effort to blast stubborn Chinese defenders out of the burning ruins of Chapei and strongholds along the Shanghai-Woosung front. Under rolling masses of red brown smoke from scores of fires in the northern area of the city the Japanese pierced Chinese lines and drove their wedge ahead only to be pushed back by a withering Chinese fire.

The lines of the two forces appeared unbroken, the fighting continued with heavy losses on both sides. The Japanese lost no time after day broke to launch anew their terrific attack. Machine gunners and artillery forces already active ahead of the Japanese bombing planes, constantly sent screaming shells and rattling bullets through the air to burst and splatter in the Chapei battleground.

The smoke and pillars of dust raised by high explosives falling all day yesterday and all night thickened the air over the Chinese forces already heavy with low-hanging storm clouds. The American destroyers, arriving from Manila, began taking action in various parts of Shanghai harbor. They are the Smith Thompson, Whipple, Pope, Barker, Peary, John W. Edwards and John D. Ford. The British cruiser Kent arrived shortly afterward, bringing Admiral Sir W. A. H. Kelly, commander of the British squadron in China.

The Kent came from Hongkong with a battery of British artillery aboard. Two major artillery assaults followed yesterday which left the Chinese holding fast to their holes in the ground. The heavy shelling started 40 minutes after midnight. Shells exploded at the rate of one a minute, rattling the doors and windows of houses three miles away. After an hour the heavy guns ceased firing, but three-inch pieces and machine guns were kept in action. At 3:15 a. m. quiet descended on the battlefield. Only the crack of a rifle here and there could be heard.

With the breaking of dawn three hours later the guns got busy again. Shells screamed through the air and burst in the Chapei battleground, where machine guns again had taken up their rat-tat-tat.

A wall of fire a mile long lighted the sky over Chapei. Smoke and flames from the conflagration were swept down on the International Settlement by a cold north wind. Reports circulating this morning said that Japanese cruisers were lying off Lihoo, 35 miles northwest of Shanghai, within the lower Yangtze. This, coupled with Tokyo reports that a division of Japanese soldiers was on the way to China, led to a belief the Japanese were planning to land forces near Lihoo, where they would have an open path to Shanghai.

In event of such a movement, Chinese along the Shanghai-Woosung railway would find the enemy at their rear. An excellent motor highway from Lihoo to Shanghai would make an advance on Shanghai easy and rapid.

The Chinese looked for a final desperate push on the part of the Japanese to clear out the last stronghold in Chapei before many more hours. The Chapei College, a well known Chinese school, was in flames.

MRS. CLAUSEN FACING YEAR TERM IN KILLING

Mobile Woman Found Guilty of Second Degree Manslaughter in Hale Death.

MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 4.—(P)—The jury in the case of Mrs. Willie Mae Clausen, 35, charged with the slaying of her alleged paramour, Foster K. Hale Jr., an attorney, returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter in the second degree at noon today and recommended a sentence of one year in prison.

Hale was shot in his law office on the evening of June 16, 1931. Mrs. Clausen testified on the stand that Hale, with whom she had been on friendly terms for many years, struggled with her for possession of a revolver which was accidentally dis-

Yancey Lands Autogiro Among Mayan Ruins

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 4.—(P)—The Autogiro Company of America announced here today it had received word that Captain Lewis Yancey had made a successful landing in an autogiro on a terrace of the ruins of Chichen-Itza in Yucatan, Mexico. Captain Yancey, trans-Atlantic flyer, was greeted by Dr. Sylvanus G. Morley, who is directing the scientific work of the Carnegie Foundation there. The use of planes, Dr. Morley said will greatly facilitate the work by shortening the round trip from the base of operations now made by train and wagon from six hours to one hour and 45 minutes.

charged. Hale died several hours after being wounded. Hale made a dying statement that Mrs. Clausen shot him "for nothing." Mrs. Clausen when first arrested made a statement that she killed Hale because he had wrecked her life when she was a young girl. The testimony at the trial was sensational throughout, reviewing the friendship of many years between the defendant and the deceased.

COTTON HEADS PLAN TO MEET IN MARCH

Co-operative Directors To Act on New Handling Contract.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 4.—(P)—The full boards of directors of all cotton co-operatives affiliated with the American Cotton Co-operative Association have been called to meet here in March for the purpose of making the co-operative movement a permanent one and to act on a new contract for the handling of cotton next season.

U. B. Blalock, president of the American association, announced the southwide assembly last night. He said March 2 to 5 had been fixed as tentative dates. The association will make no announcement on the proposed new contract until that time, he said. Blalock pointed out that the Central Co-operative, headquartered here and working with the federal farm board, had been organized on a two-year basis, the period expiring next August 1.

Father of Underwood To Observe Birthday

Rev. M. L. Underwood, venerable minister of the North Georgia conference, Methodist Episcopal church, South, today will observe the eighty-fourth anniversary of his birth in a quiet manner at the home of his daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. Hal Stead and Miss Margaret Underwood. Rev. Underwood is the father of United States Judge B. Marvin Underwood. Born February 5, 1848, Rev. Underwood has spent more than half a century in the ministry of the Methodist church, and is perhaps the most widely known member of that denomination in this section of Georgia. He is a native of Franklin county, Georgia, and has held distinguished pastorates in Atlanta, Milledgeville and Gainesville.

AGRICULTURISTS ASK END OF FARM BOARD

Federal Price Fixing Plan Is Advocated Before Senate Group.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Farm leaders today demanded abolition of the federal farm board and substitution of a price-fixing plan to be administered by the secretary of agriculture.

Under the new plan, farm products prices would be regulated by consideration of all domestic consumption needs, upon production cost and a fair return to the farmer. The example of one farmer who got 75 cents net out of the sale of seven sheep after deduction of commissions was cited before the senate agriculture committee by John Simpson, na-

British Firm Asks Ban On Use of Term 'Whiskey'

national president of the Farmers' Union. He advocated adoption of the bill of Representative Elmer Thomas, democrat, Oklahoma, or a similar bill by Senator James F. Byrnes, democrat, South Carolina, to substitute the price-fixing scheme for the board. Simpson charged that prices were now controlled by "a handful of men on the grain exchanges." Fred Breckman, of the National Grange, said his organization favored the plan to insure that farmers would be paid the cost of production, but that the agricultural marketing act, which created the board, should be continued to stimulate co-operative marketing. Chester Gray, of the American Farm Bureau Federation, took a similar position.

COLD WEATHER HALTS RAIN IN FLOOD AREA

At Same Time Wintery Winds Aggravate Plight of Unfortunate Sufferers.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 4.—(P)—Cold weather swept into the southern flood zones today to play dual roles of benefactor and cruel taskmaster. The advent of clear skies and biting chill halted the dreary rainfall that has pushed the Mississippi river above flood stage at several points and swelled its network of tributaries to fearful heights.

At the same time, however, the sudden whim of winter to vanquish spring-like weather, and claim its rightful place in the parade of seasons aggravated the plight of unfortunate thousands who have been confined from their homes by high water. Hitherto, the Red Cross and other relief agencies have been concerned largely with finding food to feed hungry stomachs and high ground on which the refugees could camp in comparative comfort until the flood subsided.

But with cold winds whistling over the stricken areas, the problem of supplying shelter, fuel and warm clothing has become paramount. The Mississippi reached flood stage of 35 feet here today and government forecasters believe it will go a foot and a half higher within a few days. The big stream has flooded thousands of acres between its banks and its powerful levee system, but federal engineers are not alarmed by its present rise. All over the flood zone the situation is clearing. Around Greenwood rising rivers have come to a standstill and a fall will come soon unless there are additional rains. The Tallapoosa, Yalobusha and Yazoo rose menacingly last week after heavy rainfall. Convicts are held at Greenwood and sections in Humphreys and Yazoo counties where rains would increase flood fears.

WOMEN OPPOSE BAN ON NIGHT WORK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(P)—Opposition to a resolution designed to eliminate night employment of women in textile mills adopted at a recent conference of commerce department officials and textile representatives, was voiced tonight by Elsie Hill, acting chairman of the Connecticut branch of the National Woman's Party. She said in a statement Secretary Lamont "has aroused women from one end of the country to the other by his use of governmental pressure to cause the discontinuance of employment of women textile workers on jobs that can be taken by men."

EVERY WOMAN faces this question

"How do I look to other people?" If you have a lovely skin, attractive eyes, and plenty of enthusiasm, you need not worry.

So many women, though, risk their beauty by neglect of constipation. It often causes loss of pep, sallow skins, dull eyes, pimples. Yet constipation can be overcome by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. This cereal provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B which tones the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Special cooking processes make it finer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming.

Surely this is safer than abusing the system with pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Two tablespoonsfuls daily will correct most types of constipation.

If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

CLARENCE EVERETT SERVICES ARE HLD

Funeral services were held in Miami Thursday for Clarence Everett, 65, formerly of Atlanta, who died at his home in the Florida city Tuesday night after a brief illness. Mr. Everett was well known in Atlanta. He had been residing in Florida for the last three years.

Surviving are his widow; a son, Clarence Everett Jr., of Miami, and two sisters, Mrs. W. O. Jones, of Miami, and Mrs. Judith Lumpkin, of New York, N. Y.

that he would be succeeded by Undersecretary Ogden L. Mills. Assistant Secretary Arthur A. Ballantine will take Mills' place.

Meanwhile, the senate's newest member, Huey P. Long, of Louisiana, declared himself opposed to both the Mellon and Mills appointments. He said he would endeavor to prevent their confirmation. Administration leaders were unworried, however, and freely predicted approval of the nominations by an overwhelming vote.

From the house there came a reiteration of Representative Patman's opposition to Mellon. The Texas democrat is the author of a resolution seeking the treasury secretary's impeachment. This is now in the hands of a house subcommittee. Patman said today the ambassadorship appointment was equivalent to a presidential pardon in the middle of a trial.

The affairs of the treasury continued as usual today with the secretary directing its operations from his desk, while Mills, with the responsibility of handling the government's financial operations, was in conference with President Hoover. The undersecretary was with the president when the formal announcement was made of his appointment to the cabinet.

TWO ATLANTANS WIN GOODRICH AWARDS

Two Atlanta branch employees of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company were among 16 awarded the Goodrich master merchandising awards for 1931, signifying better than average attainment and distinguished sales ability.

They are J. E. Smith and G. W. Stubbs.

The awards were made Thursday evening at the Baltimore hotel, where the southeastern district sales and advertising conference of the Goodrich company is being held. S. B. Robertson, Goodrich vice president in charge of the conference here, presented the awards to those men signified by C. B. O'Connor, general sales manager, following the conference dinner.

Others similarly awarded were: R. L. Almon, Charlotte; G. G. Doering, Birmingham; M. W. Ackley, W. B. Leak and G. G. Hutchings, Jacksonville; W. A. Olson, H. G. Sleeper, A. D. Gardner, J. A. Taylor and A. J. Anderson, Dallas; D. E. LeGarde, J. A. Richard and J. H. Mancuso, New Orleans, and R. D. Angerman, Oklahoma City.

The conference will close Friday evening following sessions throughout the day on advertising in charge of P. C. Henderson, advertising director. Other speakers include P. J. Kelly, assistant sales manager; Guy Gunderaker Jr., sales promotion manager; F. T. Tucker, tire advertising manager.

A dramatized presentation embracing the 1932 sales and advertising policies will conclude the conference late Friday afternoon. A cast of staff employees from the main Goodrich offices in Akron will present the program. The Akron party will go to New York Saturday to conduct the second of five conferences similar to those held in Atlanta. Other cities include Akron, Chicago and Los Angeles.

Blasts on Tanker Claim 17 Lives

MARCUS HOOK, Pa., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Lives of at least 17 men were snuffed out in fiery blasts which wrecked the motorship Bidwell early today as she lay at a Delaware river pier here.

Four explosions which burned and tore the forward part of the ship awakened the countryside for a mile around and caused damage to nearby buildings. Four persons injured and one missing completed their toll. The Bidwell carried a crew of 34.

ONE OF VICTIMS BELIEVED SON OF COBB COUNTY MAN

MARIETTA, Ga., Feb. 4.—Lloyd Hamilton, listed as killed in an explosion on the tank ship Bidwell at Marcus Hook, Pa., on Thursday, is believed to be the son of A. E. Hamilton, of Cobb county. The family could not be located Thursday and it is not known whether they still reside in this county or not. According to last reports, they lived somewhere in the Roswell district. Lloyd Hamilton is believed to be a son who ran away from home about two years ago.

THREE MEALS A DAY

KITCHEN TESTED RECIPES

by Sally Saver

"I love everything that's old; old friends, old times, old manners, old books, old wine."—She Stoops to Conquer.

My, how the old-fashioned recipes poured in! Many of them are more than a hundred years old. Some are mother's favorite, some grandmother's—others great-grandmother's, and all of them are good old dishes that were so popular down south "befo' de wah."

I want to thank all of you for the splendid recipes you sent in for the contest, and I wish there was a prize for everyone. In addition to the six winning recipes, we are printing a number of others that we feel are just too good not to pass on to our other readers.

Wouldn't our grandmothers and great-grandmothers be astonished if they could come back and see how quickly, how easily and how economically the present-day women prepare their meals? Instead of spending days and days canning fruits and vegetables, over the hot stove during the summer months, these canned foods may be purchased at a neighborhood store in a few minutes' time at a much lower cost. Ham comes in tins, baked and spiced—always ready to serve, and there's no need to "run down a chicken," for they, too, are canned, ready to be heated and put on the table—some of them are even stuffed. So, with the many food products canned and packaged, a tempting dinner requiring only a few minutes' preparation may be served. We wonder if you who prepare these quick meals will send us your dinner menus that will take only 20 minutes. For the six that are judged best, we will give a prize of $1 each. Remember to use canned and packaged food wherever possible, mentioning the brands you prefer and the place from which you purchased them.

THE FIRST SIX ARE PRIZE RECIPES.

Mrs. W. M. Pharr, 614 Sherwood road, N. E., Atlanta, Ga.:

Old-Fashioned Peach Custard.
Two cups cooked dried peaches sweetened to taste (country dried if possible), 3 eggs yolk, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 cups sweet milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Line pie pan with pastry, put in peaches as for any other pie. Have yolks of 3 eggs, sugar, milk and vanilla beaten until light, then pour over peaches. Put in oven to bake until crust is done. Take out and put on meringue made of 3 whites left from the 3 yolks—and 3 tablespoons of sugar.

Mrs. J. W. Gilstrap, 425 Hardendort avenue, Atlanta, Ga.:

Old-Fashioned Sweet Potato Fudding.
Four cups grated raw sweet potatoes, 2 eggs, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-3 teaspoon cinnamon, 2 tablespoons meat, 1 cup sweet milk, 1 cup sugar, salt to taste, 1-4 teaspoon allspice, 1-5 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-4 pound butter. Mix well and bake in a moderate oven about an hour.

Mrs. Will Harralson, 290 Parkway drive, Atlanta, Ga.:

Chicken Pillau.
Par-boil a big fat hen until well done, but not leaving the bones—boil 3 cups rice 20 minutes in boiling water, add 2 tablespoons salt. When done drain and set over water to dry. Hard boil 6 eggs, let cool, cut in slices after removing shell. Put whole chicken in large baking dish.

Mrs. Hazel Hodgson McNeel, Marietta, Ga.:

Fopovers.
One cup flour (mix salt in flour), 1 cup sweet milk, 1 salt spoon salt, 2 eggs.
Add half of milk slowly, when smooth add the rest, and then the eggs well beaten. Cook in hot oven in hot buttered pans 1-2 hours. The deep muffin pans make best popovers. They will rise very high.

Mrs. W. J. Harris, 82 North avenue, Atlanta, Ga.:

Queen of Puddings.
One quart milk scalded, 1-3 cup sugar, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon nutmeg, 2 cups bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla or 2 eggs. Jelly or fruit preserves.
Stir the bread crumbs into the scalded milk and let stand until cool. Then add beaten yolks of eggs and sugar. Now put in salt and flavoring. Pour into greased baking dish, set in a pan containing a little warm water and bake in a slow oven. When pudding is cool spread with jelly or tart fruit preserves. Cover with meringue made of stiffly beaten whites of eggs and four tablespoons of sugar and 1-4 teaspoon vanilla. Return to oven part of oven and brown. Serve either hot or cold.

the burn off and leave the cake smooth and ready for icing.

Mrs. O. T. Altha, Loganville, Ga., R. F. D. No. 3:

Melasses Custard.
Two eggs, well beaten; 1 tablespoon sugar, 3 teaspoons flour, pinch baking powder, 1-2 cup molasses, pinch salt, 2 tablespoons sweet milk.
Mix well together, line a deep custard pan with hot pastry, turn in filling and cook slowly until done.

Mrs. Jewell Strickland, Star Route, Franklin, Ga.:

Ginger Cookies.
One cupful each of butter and sugar creamed well together; 3 beaten eggs, 2 cups of molasses, 2 tablespoons soda dissolved in a little hot water. One tablespoon ginger, a bit of salt and flour to roll. I put in what would be not quite enough flour and let the mixture stand overnight or some hours. In this way you use less flour, the cookies are better. Roll as thin as you like them and bake in a quick oven, taking care not to scorch them. A few chopped nuts are good if you like them.

Corn Dumplings.
Two and one-half cups meal sifted, 2 eggs, 1-2 cup butter milk, 2 onions chopped fine, 1 tablespoon black pepper, 3-4 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon flour.
Boil a ham bone until tender, then mix other ingredients with meal and add enough cold water to make hard dough. Roll in balls about the size of an egg and drop in pot with bone. Let boil ten minutes.

Raisin Pie.
Cook 1-2 cups of seeded raisins in 1-2 cups of boiling water until tender. Mix 1-2 cup of sugar and 1-2 cup of flour; add to the raisins and cook until the sauce thickens, stirring well, then add the raisins, 1-4 cup of lemon and a tablespoon of lemon juice. Bake with two crusts, or one crust and cover with strips of pastry. This is an inexpensive and delicious dessert.

Virginia Stuffing.
Two cups bread crumbs, 1-2 cup milk, 1-2 tablespoons butter, 1-2 teaspoon chopped onion, 1-2 teaspoon pepper, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon thyme, 1-4 teaspoon summer savory.
This is a highly seasoned stuffing which serves well with meat. The bread crumbs should be soaked for an hour in the milk, after which the melted butter is added with the beaten egg and the seasoning.

Scatter bits of dried lemon peel among cookies when putting them into a jar and they will have a nice flavor.
Mrs. P. M. Hubbard, 1219 McLendon avenue, Atlanta, Ga.:

Sweet Potato Fudding.
One cup sugar, 1 cup molasses, 2 cups raw grated potatoes, 1-4 cup sweet milk, 2 tablespoons butter, grated rind 2 oranges, 1 teaspoon ginger.
Mix sugar, molasses, butter and potato, add milk, orange rind and ginger. Bake in greased pan 1-2 hours.

Mrs. D. I. Sulzbacher, 1150 Blue Ridge avenue, Atlanta, Ga.:

Scrapie.
Boil a pig's head until thoroughly done. Use the meat to make soup, or hog's head cheese—add to the liquor left, sifted corn meal, red pepper (pep), sage and salt to taste. Cook until quite thick (care must be taken not to put too much meal, but allow for the thickening), then set away to get cool. Slice rather thin and fry in slightly greased pan until brown.

Brown Betty.
Cut into thin slices, 8 large apples, have ready buttered pudding dish. Put into this a layer of left-over, grated bread crumbs, then a layer of sliced apples; sprinkle sugar over this and so on, until you get to the top. Have it of bread crumbs and put 3 large lumps of butter on top. Place in oven to brown. Serve hot with hard sauce. To prepare crumbs, take the bread and crumble up fine—brown in oven, spread out on rolling board and roll the rolling pin over it until the crumbs are fine.
To fry fish a golden brown, sprinkle it with one of the numerous brands of pancake flour instead of the usual corn meal. You'll be delighted with the finished product.

Mrs. J. E. Baker, Sugar Valley, Georgia:

Old-Fashioned Cabbage—Ham and Egg Pie.
Six slices lean ham, 6 eggs. Boil ham until very tender—making dough as for biscuit—working until stiff. Take pie pan—put ham in the bottom, cover with thin pieces of dough, next break eggs in on dough—cover with the remaining pieces of ham. Salt and black pepper to taste. Cover with the water where ham was cooked, put on top crust, sprinkle with butter, let brown. This will serve six. This recipe was used by my grandmother when women cooked in ovens by an open fire.

Mrs. H. G. Carter, Winterville, Ga.:

Chicken Pie.
Prepare a one and one-half pound chicken as for frying, place in a closely covered broiler with a quart of water and boil until quite tender. Make a rich biscuit dough, roll thin and line a deep pan. Place a layer of chicken, dot generously with butter, add a dash of pepper, roll more dough quite thin, cut in strips and place on top of chicken, then add remainder of chicken and more butter—sprinkle with black pepper and pour liquid in which chicken was cooked, over this and cover with rolled dough cut in strips and place two ways to form checks. Place in a moderately hot oven and cook 45 minutes.

Mrs. Nat Adams, Watkinsville, Ga.:

Good Old-Time Chicken Stew.
One fat hen, 1 can corn, 1 pod red pepper, 1 quart sweet milk, 1 can tomatoes, 3 large onions, 1 teaspoon black pepper, 1-2 pound butter, salt to taste.
Cook hen until tender, having about a gallon of stock when done—then add onions, corn, pepper and tomatoes which have been run through food chopper. Let come to a boil—then add a good pinch of soda, then the milk and butter—salt to taste and let it come to boiling point and remove from fire. Serve in soup bowls with a piece of chicken in each bowl.

An Old Oyster Dish.
One quart oysters, 1-2 pound macaroni, 1-2 cup bread crumbs, 1 salt pepper to taste.
Boil macaroni until tender. Stew tomatoes until a thick sauce. Pump the oysters and drain off liquor. Put layer of oysters, then macaroni, bits of butter and season until all is used. Pour over this the stewed tomatoes, cover top with crumbs, cook until oysters are done and top browned. Serve from the dish in which it is baked.

Mrs. C. F. Nunn, Farmington, Ga.:

Old-Fashioned Pound Cake.
One pound sugar, 1 pound butter, 4 cups flour (1 pound), 10 eggs (1 pound).
Beat the yolks and whites separately; cream the butter and sugar; add egg yolks and mix well. Add the stiff egg whites alternately with the flour. Long heating is the success of this cake. Put in oven when you can hear your hand on the bottom. Gradually increase the heat to moderate. Bake two hours.

Old-Fashioned Yeast.
Peel and boil 6 large potatoes, scald one pint of flour with potato water. Let 1 teaspoon of hops come to the boiling point and pour water over the other ingredients. The hops up in cloth while boiling. Let stand until cool then add 1 cup yeast well soaked—2 tablespoons sugar. Let this rise; stiffen with corn meal; roll out, cut in cakes and dry in the wind.

Cabbage, onions and celery lose much of their minerals in the drained-off water after boiling. All these food values are preserved if they are wrapped in Patapar cooking parchment.

Mrs. N. O. Cain, Vidalia, Ga.:

Corn Meal Batter Cakes.
One and one-half cups corn meal, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 cup boiled cold rice, 2 cups boiling water, 3 tablespoons butter or substitute, 1 teaspoon salt.
Mix together and pour boiling water over, stirring constantly—let cool. Add 1-2 cups buttermilk, 1 egg, beat on light; 3-4 teaspoon soda dissolved in a little cold water, 2 teaspoons baking powder sifted into batter. Have a medium thick batter. Bake on griddle, as any batter cake. This recipe was served Cleveland's favorite—and was given every morning during his term as president.

Mrs. D. A. Henderson, Cornelia, Georgia:

Fried Apples.
Pare four large apples and cut into rounds about 1-4 of an inch thick. Carefully remove the seed and cores without breaking the apples. Fry quickly in boiling half lard and half butter—to a light brown. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon—serve hot. Fine with meats.

Tea Cakes.
Three eggs, 1 cup butter, 2 cups sugar, flour to make a stiff dough. Mix all ingredients and knead to stiff dough, roll out and sprinkle with sugar, cut out and bake in well-greased pan.

Opossum Baked With Sweet Potatoes.

Let opossum soak in salted water overnight—after it has been nicely dressed. Rub inside and outside with either red or black pepper. Place in roasting pan with a teaspoon of boiling water—a tablespoon of butter—one of vinegar and 1-2 dozen or more sweet potatoes (small) peeled. Baste the meat often; when tender remove to a dish and garnish with potatoes.

Mrs. E. L. Daniel, Spalding street, Griffin, Ga.:

Irish Stew.
Boil 1-2 pounds each of beef and pork until tender. Chop each very fine, also chop 3 good size Irish potatoes and 3 onions in small pieces. Put in a baking pan—pour in the broth of the meat and one can of tomatoes chopped up—then make biscuit. Roll as thin as pie crust, use small cutter and put on top in rows, as if you were to bake a pan of biscuit. Salt to taste. Put in oven and bake.

To improve the flavor of your meat gravies add the water in which the potatoes have been boiled. If the

MANY REASONS FOR CONFIDENCE, MURRAH ASSERTS

A note of encouragement to business was sounded Thursday by Wade G. Murrah, manager of the business development and advertising department of the First National bank, when he pointed out that favorable factors in industry were emphasized in 1929 whereas the unfavorable factors are now being magnified.

To illustrate his contention that business leaders during recent months have been inclined to magnify unfavorable circumstances and that are innumerable reasons for having confidence in the United States and its business structure, Mr. Murrah cited total bank deposits of $52,000,000,000 in 1931 as compared with only $19,000,000,000 in 1914.

"The time has come," said the speaker, "to cease digging in and to begin to do some digging out. We will gain nothing by waiting on political developments or a change in European affairs. Each individual and each business must arrange its own affairs to meet all conditions. Please do not understand that I am advocating expansion of business altogether. For some, 'digging out' will mean even further reduction of expenses and the taking up of a better fortified position; but for most it will mean hard work and aggressiveness, reinforced by adequate salesmanship and advertising."

water contains salt, your gravy will not need to be salted again.

Mrs. T. L. Cook, Madras, Ga.:

Grandmother's Brown Bread.
Take 1 quart of Indian corn meal and 3 pints of rye meal. Put it into a pan, add a half cup of molasses and two teaspoons of ginger. Half a teaspoon of soda dissolved in warm water enough to mix the meal rather soft. Let it remain in the pan to rise overnight. When light enough put it into pans and bake. Bread made by this recipe will not sour so quickly as when yeast is used.

PROBE OF FARM BOARD ASKED IN RESOLUTION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Representative Fulmer, democrat, South Carolina, a member of the house agriculture committee, has introduced a concurrent resolution for an investigation of the federal farm board.

Identical with a measure introduced in the senate Monday by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, it would set up an investigating committee of three members from the senate and three from the house, with a $100,000 expense appropriation.

COTTON AID ASKED
OF FINANCIAL BODYSouthern Senators Discuss
Proposition With Reconstruction Heads.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Proposals for financing the retirement of several million additional bales of American cotton from the open market were discussed with General Charles G. Dawes and other officials of the newly created Federal Reconstruction Finance Corporation today by a committee of congressmen and senators representing the southern states.

The committee calling on General Dawes was headed by Senator Josiah W. Bailey, of North Carolina, and Senator Ellison D. Smith, of South Carolina.

Problems of the southern cotton farmer were discussed with Mr. Dawes for more than an hour. Governor Eugene Meyer, of the federal reserve board, who is also a director of the finance corporation, was called in to participate in the conference.

After leaving the corporation, the congressional committee called at the offices of the federal farm board and engaged in a further conference with Chairman James C. Stone.

Neither General Dawes nor Governor Meyer was able to give a definite commitment to the proposals discussed, but both agreed to take the matter under consideration and see if some plan cannot be worked out for the improvement of present price levels.

It is understood that the subsequent conference with Chairman Stone was arranged at the suggestion of General Dawes, who wanted officials of the latter agency to be informed on the situation.

Senator Bailey, who suggested the conference, said tonight he and his associates would press the matter further and would probably see officials of the corporation again at an early date. Both he and Senator Smith, along with other members from the south generally, are hopeful

Man Gets Life Term
For 38-Cent Holdup

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 4.—(AP)—A holdup in which the loot was only 38 cents Wednesday resulted in a sentence of life imprisonment for Robert Lanier, 34, of Miami.

He was convicted of the armed robbery last December of Roger Fox, 14-year-old newsboy.

Judge E. C. Collins, in passing sentence in criminal court, said the amount of the robbery did not enter into consideration of the offense.

"The intent to kill if the robbery was not successful is apparent in this case," the judge said. Testimony showed Lanier held up the boy with a pistol.

that some practical plan can be evolved for relieving the plight of cotton producers.

The plan put forward by Senator Smith last summer was gone into to some extent during the discussions today. His proposal calls for the voluntary curtailment of cotton acreage by farmers in return for the federal farm board or some other agency holding to their credit an equivalent amount of cotton for marketing at the beginning of the new crop movement this fall.

General Dawes was asked to consider some means for having the new $2,000,000,000 government corporation finance the acquisition of 3,000,000 to 6,000,000 bales of new cotton and hold it until a definite improvement in prices takes place. The corporation could do this, it was suggested, through issuance of loans to commercial banks for that purpose. It was estimated that not more than $10 or $15 per bale would be necessary from the finance corporation, probably the smaller figure, in view of the cheapness of cotton. The federal reserve and other banks would be able to provide the remainder, it was argued.

The whole scheme is contingent, however, on voluntary curtailment of cotton acreage by southern farmers. Without sufficient guarantees of their willingness to do this the corporation, it has been suggested, would fight shy of any proposal for lending any considerable part of its resources.

Senator Smith believes that farmers will be found willing to sign acreage curtailment contracts and that a sufficient number of the agreements could be mustered within a month by the various county demonstration agents through the cotton-producing states.

OF HEART ATTACK

can, a farmer-labor member and three vacancies.

The third vacancy was caused by the resignation last week of Representative Russell Leech, of Pennsylvania, who was appointed to the board of tax appeals.

Win High Praise.
Speaker Garner, in a statement, praised both the 61-year-old Georgian. Later, after a 10-minute session in which resolutions of regret were adopted, the house adjourned out of respect for the congressman.

Representative Crisp, democrat, Georgian, pleaded with the members:

"Let us relax and not kill ourselves with overwork."

The senate also adjourned in honor of the two house members.

Congressional delegations will accompany both bodies back to their native states for the funerals. Rutherford will be buried at Forsyth, Ga., at 3 p. m. Saturday; Quinn at Vicksburg, Miss., 24 hours later.

The Georgia and Mississippi members were designated to serve on the congressional committee. Eighteen members will go to each funeral. Ten senators also will attend.

The senatorial delegation, named late today, to the Quinn funeral includes Senators Harrison and Steadman, Mississippi; Robinson, Arkansas; Reed, Pennsylvania; Broussard and Long, Louisiana; McKellar, Tennessee; Norris, Nebraska; Black, Alabama, and Patterson, Missouri.

Those attending Mr. Rutherford's funeral are Senators Harris and George, Georgia; Smith and Byrnes, North Carolina; Fletcher, Mississippi; Frazier, North Dakota; Austin, Vermont; Kean, New Jersey; Brookhart, Iowa, and Davis, Pennsylvania.

The Quins were childless. Rutherford is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. John Roberts, of Macon, and Mrs. Albert Bunn, of Atlanta. He had three sons, one of whom, South Trimble, clerk of the house, said this was the first time so far as he recalled that two members of the house had died the same day. He added there had been more deaths since the present congress was elected—16—that ever before.

RUTHERFORD ELECTED

FROM OLD 6TH DISTRICT
FORSYTH, Ga., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Representative Samuel Rutherford, who dropped dead in Washington today, represented the sixth Georgia district, which had been merged with the tenth and twelfth Georgia districts under a reapportionment made necessary by the 1930 census.

Representative Carl Vinson, of Milledgeville, chairman of the house naval affairs committee, represents the tenth district, and Representative W. W. Larsen, of Dublin, the twelfth district.

Mr. Rutherford and Mr. Vinson were to run against each other for election from the new enlarged district—the sixth. Mr. Larsen announced he would not be a candidate for re-election, but would seek the judgeship of the superior court circuit now held by R. Earl Camp, who is a candidate for congress from the sixth district.

Mr. Rutherford had been active in politics in Georgia for many years. A graduate of Washington and Lee University and the University of Georgia, he began practicing law in 1904 at Forsyth. He served the city as mayor for three terms, became a member of the state house of representatives from Monroe county, and served in this office several terms. He was a former solicitor of the city court of Forsyth and later a state senator from the 22d Georgia district. He went to congress as representative of the sixth district and began serving March 4, 1925.

GOVERNOR WITHHELD

DECISION ON ELECTION
There will be no decision on the date of a special election to name a successor for Congressman Samuel Rutherford until Governor Russell can confer with the democratic executive committee of the old sixth district, which Mr. Rutherford represented, the governor said today.

The date, he said, will depend on whether the committee desires to hold a primary prior to the general election to name the new congressman.

Revising of the old sixth district committee is expected to make more complicated the already snarled political situation in the new sixth district, created last year when Georgia lost two congressmen.

Governor Russell said the congressman will serve only until the new congress comes into being. The new representative will come from the sixth, which takes in parts of other districts.

Only voters of Bibb, Butts, Clayton, Crawford, Fayette, Henry, Jasper, Jones, Lamar, Monroe, Pike, Spalding and Upson counties, the old sixth, will vote in the special election.

Georgia law requires the general election to be held within 30 days after the governor receives official notice of a vacancy from the clerk of the house. Governor Russell expects such notice tomorrow.

If no primary is desired by the executive committee, the governor said, the election will be held earlier than if a primary is called.

Dies Unexpectedly

CONGRESSMAN RUTHERFORD.

SAM AIKEN CAUGHT
BY HOUSTON POLICE

A man named John Lang who was killed in a mysterious murder about two years ago at Lufkin, Texas.

Aiken said he did not want to talk about his escape from the Fulton tower but asserted that he and Fred D. Fair, also a condemned slayer who fled the jail with him, separated a day or two after their getaway.

The Quins were childless. Rutherford is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. John Roberts, of Macon, and Mrs. Albert Bunn, of Atlanta. He had three sons, one of whom, South Trimble, clerk of the house, said this was the first time so far as he recalled that two members of the house had died the same day. He added there had been more deaths since the present congress was elected—16—that ever before.

Police Superintendent Percy Heard said that because Aiken appeared to have just recovered from illness he would be given the best treatment possible during his stay at the Houston jail.

CAPTURE RECALLS SENSATIONAL BREAK.
It was on the night of August 21, 1930, that Sam F. Aiken, condemned double slayer and Fred D. Fair, likewise condemned slayer, a police officer, J. E. McDonald, engineer, effected one of the most sensational jail breaks in Georgia's history.

With another prisoner, Bryce Gasaway, the two were confined in a ground floor cell wing at the tower. At 9 o'clock Deputy Sheriff Robert T. Tolbert, inspected the wing and found nothing unusual. He later learned the bars of their cells were found sawed off, bars had been sawed from a window leading to the jail yard.

Aiken and Fair were gone. Gasaway remained in his cell. He later learned the escape was accomplished speedily and with little or no noise.

For a week the pair were the object of a desperate search all over the state. Deputies under Sheriff James I. Lowry combed the hills of north Georgia and ran down a score or more worthless clues. There was no trace of Aiken or Fair.

Then Captain W. H. Mayo, deputy sheriff, took charge of the search. Circulars were sent to the police of every city and the sheriff of every county in the country. Thousands of dollars were spent in postage alone and hundreds of telegrams were dispatched.

The weeks and the months slipped by and no word came from the two fugitives.

It remained for a detective story fan and amateur sleuth to trip up the first of the two to be captured. To the amateur sleuth will go three rearward $500 from Sheriff Lowry, $200 from the county and $250 from the state.

Deputies Leave Today.
Deputy Sheriffs Robert McCall and Fred Lyons are to leave this morning to return the condemned man to Atlanta. Both he and Fair had lost their appeals to the supreme court and only the action of the prison commission and the governor stood between them and the electric chair when they escaped.

Aiken was taken before a superior court judge and a new date for his execution set immediately after he is returned here. Solicitor-General John A. Boykin said Thursday night.

Aiken shot and killed his wife, Annie Mae, and Boyce Hunter, a neighbor, in June, 1929. The double murder took place at Aiken's home, on Cooper street. After the killings Aiken fled to a sparsely populated section of the city and for several hours held off with a shotgun more than a score of police that attempted to effect his arrest.

At his trial the state offered evidence tending to show that both Aiken and Hunter were bootleggers and that Aiken had plotted to bring Hunter and his wife together to kill them, the former to eliminate a rival in business and the wife because he wanted to be rid of her. Aiken's defense was that Hunter had broken up his home. A jury convicted him and gave him the death penalty after deliberating only a short time.

Fred Fair shot and fatally wounded Officer McDaniel on August 16, 1928. The officer died several days later.

Fair's troubles started with the alleged kidnapping of Mrs. Kitty Heath. Relatives of Mrs. Heath shot one John Zink, mistaking him for Fair, and several days later Fair showed up at the side of the automobile of E. L. Griffin, one of Mrs. Heath's relatives. With Griffin he engaged in a scuffle and in the struggle Griffin was wounded. It was while fleeing the scene of this shooting that Fair encountered Officer McDaniel.

YOUTHS KIDNAP
CHIEF OF POLICE

and J. R. Cato, in Barnesville, more than eight hours later, and a running gun fight in which the tires of the automobile in which the bandits were fleeing were shot off, and finally their last stand in a swamp near the Lamar-Spalding county line.

Many shots were exchanged between the youthful bandits and their pursuers. Wilson, the driver of the two stolen automobiles used by them in their flight, was wounded by buckshot. He was treated at a local hospital under police guard after being returned to this city.

How they spent eight hours going from Macon to Barnesville was explained by the youths after their arrest.

"We thought we were being pursued as we approached Barnesville," said Wilson. "We turned to the right, thinking we could get to Griffin and continue on to Atlanta without going through Barnesville. We drove and drove over the slickest kind of clay roads and after daylight we came into Forsyth. We had passed through that town hours before."

Then they said they decided to continue on to Atlanta. Just outside of Barnesville they abandoned the stolen Wheeler car, a coupe, and walked on to a filling station to board the next northbound bus.

The two men were standing at the filling station when Chief of Police Rievere appeared. He had been tipped off that the abandoned car was in that vicinity. Cato was deputized to go with him and they were in Cato's automobile.

"The boys didn't appear to be bad," said Chief Rievere. "They were gentlemen in their way. When placed there under arrest. I searched them, but found no weapons and then put them in the automobile and we started for the Lamar county jail. One youth was in front and one by my side."

"We hadn't gone far before Cato and I were covered with pistols. The youths had secreted the guns somewhere in their clothing. They commanded us to drive on."

Going through Barnesville Cato leaped from the car as it was running. "Shoot if you want to, but I'm leaving," he shouted. At that time persons standing on the sidewalk noticed that Chief Rievere had hold of both guns of the bandits and Wilson was trying to operate the machine with one hand.

Cato spread the alarm, and armed posers were formed. Pursuers were afraid to shoot into the car, but they shot at the tires. The chief wouldn't get out of the car at Milner and the youths struck him over the head with a pistol, which they had wrested from his grip, and then rolled him out.

After driving three miles farther, with gunfire continuing, the youths abandoned the Cato car. Its tires had been shot away and the body of the machine was riddled with rifle and shotgun fire. The boys ran into a swamp. The pursuers' ammunition had become exhausted. New supplies were obtained.

Then came the last stand in the swamp, the capture being made by J. T. Bailey, on whose farm they had made their stand, and a police officer named Brown from Spalding county.

There were probably 500 persons in the chase while it was at its peak. The captured men were taken to the Lamar county jail, where they were turned over to Macon officers, brought here, photographed and fingerprinted. The Macon officers in two automobiles left here as soon as the kidnapping of the Barnesville chief occurred.

"We didn't intend to hurt anybody," said Wheeler, according to Chief of Police Ben T. Watkins, after he was booked here. "But we got in close quarters and were forced to use our guns. We tried to make a getaway, but I'm glad we didn't hurt anybody."

STATE SALARY SLASH
URGED FOR NEW YORK

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 4.—(AP)—A $3,000,000 slash in the salaries of state officials and employees was proposed to the legislature today by one of its republican majority members.

While the intent of the bill was to make it all-inclusive, a provision of the constitution would prevent the legislature arbitrarily cutting the pay of elected state officials, including the governor and its own members.

The republican wage cut bill sets up three general brackets for the cuts. Workers receiving between $1,000 and $2,000 would be cut about 10 per cent; those between $2,000 and $10,000 slightly less than 15 per cent, and the state officials paid $10,000 or more 20 per cent.

BANDIT TRIO USES RAZOR ON VICTIM
Seriously wounded by razor slashes inflicted by one of a trio of negro bandits at midnight Wednesday, John Barnes, 34, a restaurant employee, was in a critical condition at Grady hospital Thursday night. Doctors were doubtful of his recovery, it was said.

Barnes was brought to the hospital early Thursday morning by acquaintances. He told police he had been set upon by three negroes on the Howell Mill road, who, after robbing him, cut him with a razor.

MELLON GOES TO LONDON.

The appointment of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon to the post of ambassador to the Court of St. James's sends to our most important diplomatic post a man whose experience should enable him to make an important contribution toward solving the difficult problems now existing in international relations. For Mr. Mellon's service in the cabinets of Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover has given him wide opportunity to study international relations and the ins and outs of diplomacy.

His frequent visits to Europe since the World War have given him first-hand information of the economic, financial and political problems faced by the nations of the continent, and an acquaintance with the ambitions and ideals of their peoples.

Since the gravest problems now affecting the relations between the United States and England have to do with reparations, war debts and economics, it is imperative that our representative at the British court should be well schooled in world finances.

The personalities of the new ambassador and the distinguished statesman he succeeds present a sharp contrast. Former Vice President Dawes lent to his duties in London a directness and boldness of utterance utterly in conflict with established customs of European diplomacy, but his great ability and his penchant for going to the heart of a question via the shortest route made his service in London one of the most distinguished in the annals of American diplomacy.

Former Secretary Mellon has none of General Dawes' forcefulness of expression. Quiet and dignified, he has seldom permitted himself to be ruffled during his many years of cabinet service in Washington. To the discharge of his duties in the high office with which he has been honored, and in his informal relations with the diplomats of Europe, he will lend dignity and poise.

SURPLUS GOVERNMENTS.

Commenting in an article in the New York Times, on the heavy burden for the support of local governments being carried by the taxpayers of many states, Thomas H. Reed, director of the department of political science of the University of Michigan, lays the blame to officeholders unwilling to give up their jobs.

Even in so small and compact a state as New Jersey, the writer says, "there exists a complicated structure of local government which it is useless to try to explain." And he quotes a recent report of a commission named in that state to investigate county and municipal expenses and taxation as recommending—

A drastic reduction in the number of these units, the excessive variety of which it ascribes to "local strivings and jockeying, bickering, dickering and jealousies, which all too frequently underlie what is politely referred to as 'local pride.'" The commission might have gone further and explained that "local pride" is usually little more than the "big toad in a little puddle" complex of the local politicians.

Citing Michigan as an example of a state with an inexcusable number of local governments, he says: "In Michigan there were in 1928, according to Judge Lacey, 83 counties, 1,200 townships and 6,873 school districts, or a total of 8,230 units not including cities and villages. These units elected 43,922 officers—a vast army of tax-wasters and a veritable battalion of death in resisting local government reform."

Georgia, with only 2,900,000 population and an area of 59,000 square miles, as against Michigan's 4,800,000 population and 57,000 square miles, has 161 county governments alone.

The real remedy, Mr. Reed feels, is to stop giving artificial respiration to rural units smaller than the county; to reorganize county boundaries to correspond with the rural communities which modern means of transportation have bound together, and to reform county government along the lines which have given some decency and efficacy to municipal government.

CONGRESSMAN RUTHERFORD.

The sudden death of Congressman Sam Rutherford, of the sixth Georgia district, removes one of the ablest members of the Georgia delegation in the national house of representatives.

Because of his quiet and unassuming nature much of his constructive work was not generally known, but his untiring efforts gained for him recognition as one of the most diligent members of the house.

He was especially interested in efforts seeking to benefit the farmer and the veteran. Much of this type of legislation which has been enacted during recent years is largely due to his earnest and efficient support in committee and conference rooms.

At the time of his death he was vigorously at work for the resolution introduced by him in the early days of the present session, which would have put an end to the "flame duck" sessions of congress. The resolution had already been reported favorably by the house committee on election of president, vice president and members of congress, of which he was chairman, as a substitute for a similar resolution by Senator Norris, which had already been passed by the senate.

Prior to his election to congress in 1924, Mr. Rutherford had served as mayor of Forsyth, solicitor of the city court of that time and as a member of both the state house of representatives and senate.

His entire public life was marked by close application to the duties of the various offices to which he was elected, and his death deprives the state of one of its most useful and constructive officeholders.

CONCRETE RESULTS.

As an illustration of what cooperation can accomplish in bettering farm conditions, Dr. Clarence Poe, able publisher of the Progressive Farmer, is authority for the statement that "organization has doubled the agricultural production of France" has made it possible to grow crops in that country at much lower cost than previously; greatly reduced the cost of marketing; brought the farmer a larger percentage of what the consumer pays, and has reduced the growers' various expenses from 30 to 50 per cent.

The increase in economic independence has brought with it a corresponding increase in political prestige, so that at this time a large percentage of the French chamber of deputies are pledged to support measures for the protection of agriculture.

In 1884, Dr. Poe writes, the farmers of France were farming each man for himself and were faced with conditions of the gloomiest sort. They chose co-operation as the way to work out their own salvation, and now the old-time squalor and poverty of the French farm home has given way to a general air of neatness, comfort and even prosperity.

That the same thing can be accomplished in Georgia has been demonstrated by the farmers surrounding the little community of Wrens, who, banding themselves together only a few years ago, already own their own cotton gins and flour mill—bought and paid for out of the profits of their co-operative efforts.

They are thus saving what they formerly paid out for ginning and milling, are commanding better prices for their products and are getting their supplies at lower costs. These savings have gone into the purchase of modern farm machinery and improved homes.

In Denmark, as in France, co-operation has brought the farmer in 25 years from a distressed condition to economic independence, and the same change has been wrought by the farmers of other countries who have adopted the same policy.

It has not been an overnight change, but a sound development resulting from improved production and group selling and buying. Similar sure progress would be assured for Georgia if every community in the state had an active and earnest "center" such as that which has brought such marked benefits to the farmers living around the town of Wrens.

Atlanta's week-end touch of winter weather was just enough to bring about proper appreciation of the spring-like days the weatherman promises for this week.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Religious Persecution.

The campaign against religion in the Soviet Union is so intensified, news dispatches tell us. But chief emphasis is to be placed on efforts to wean the youth away from all contact with the organized churches. The Soviet authorities, or at least those in charge of cultural work, care very little whether the old folks continue their religious practices or not.

The old ones constitute a passing generation. It is the new generation they are after. They want to free the youth from age-old superstitions and the crass ignorance in which, we may as well admit it, the Orthodox Church for Russia has kept the masses for centuries.

Sometimes I wonder if this campaign against all that medieval superstition so rampant in Russia will not clear the way for a real and rational religion, one that moves in tempo with the rhythm of our time. It is not inconceivable at all that religion may even assume the leadership in the Soviet Union some day.

The ideals of justice and goodness appeal as much to the reds, I imagine, as they do to us. But the religion must really lead, not come dragging on behind. It must take the initiative in all social, political and economic reforms and champion everywhere the cause of the downtrodden and the persecuted. Only in that case can religion have any value in modern times.

At present the Orthodox Church in Russia is the one organization that is closely linked, secretly to be sure, but effectively nevertheless, with the Russian people. This fact plays an important part, too, in the campaign of the Union of the Godless.

Revision of Treaties.

Most people must be convinced by this time the treaty of Versailles and the rebuilding of nations in Europe is a single obstacle to the transformation of the world. Certain countries, or at least statesmen, have come out openly as revisionists. It is not clear, however, by now that the peace treaty was only a make-shift. It attempted to bring security in Europe, but only to the nations that had been victorious. It sought to eternalize the victory of 1918 and maintain the existing state of things.

We can now see that this was its chief error. Twelve years have elapsed since that treaty and no peace has come. Europe is torn by conflicting nationalisms and the whole continent haunted by the fear of another conflict. Why else this frenzied rush in armament that is noticeable on all sides?

It will lead to but one thing—new wars and destruction, or else, there must come a revision of the treaties. Pressure in this direction is becoming universal. Many nations are now coming to see that something must be done if a catastrophe is to be avoided.

But when the nations agree to settle their boundaries and interests equitably and honorably, something definite ought to be done. The rights of minorities in Europe who are now being crushed and denationalized by the various imperialist states, Flinders must be freed. Their rights ought to be allowed to go their way, loose from Serbia, if they choose. And the Ukrainians and Ruthenians in Poland ought to be allowed to live their own life naturally and without constant pressure by the Polish state to make Poles out of them. It cannot be done, anyway.

Georgia Heroes Of the World War

By Sergeant L. E. Jaekel (All Rights Reserved.)

JOHN RABOIN (Army Serial No. 540752), private, Company A, 7th Infantry, 3d Division, American Expeditionary Force, awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action with the enemy near Bois-de-Belleau, France, June 27, 1918.

While making his way to a first aid station after being wounded in five different places by machine gun bullets and shrapnel, he encountered two German soldiers. One of them, a private, shot him in the back. He himself killed him also after he himself had been wounded again in the encounter.

His capture at enlistment, Augusta, Georgia.

Although it is not in any sense a lamb, nevertheless many times it is a hero. If a man happens to be a healthy carrier, we have not only healthy diphtheria carriers and healthy typhoid carriers but healthy streptococcus carriers. The infection will do at school depends upon the school environment, according to observations made by physicians in England. Dr. Griffith and Griffith found that healthy carriers were almost invariably detected in outbreaks of scarlet fever and tonsillitis or acute sore throat with fever, but without rash, in English schools. These healthy carriers yielded on culture the same type of streptococcus as that found responsible for the scarlet fever or sore throat.

The English physicians regard these unsuspected sources of infection (that is, the healthy carriers) as the most difficult obstacle to the prevention of such epidemics among school children. They believe that epidemics of measles and influenza help to spread the streptococcus, and probably not a few of the healthy carriers acquire their nose and throat flora or bacteria growth from the children, or from household contact with some one who has measles or influenza.

An Echo May Please Your Vanity, But It Can't Teach You Anything

By Robert Quillen

This is a fable in which you have been or may be one of the characters.

In a certain land there lived a reporter whose business it was to provide information for those who had more important work to do.

The people thought well of him and believed everything he said, for he was careful never to tell them anything unless he was quite sure they already knew it.

In the midst of the land there was a city and in the midst of the city an open square and in the midst of the square a great pyramid of stone topped by the figure of a man.

That is the figure appeared to be that of a man; but to the people it was a god, and they regarded it as the source of all good fortune. They said the god had always been there.

"What is it made of?" asked the reporter.

"It is blasphemy to ask such questions," the people answered. "You had better keep such impious speculations to yourself and attend to your job of supplying us with information."

The reporter, however, felt a great urge to serve. He longed to do something, to climb and one night when the moon was dark he climbed to the top of the pyramid to investigate.

He made a most astounding discovery. The figure wasn't a god at all, but merely a stuffed shirt filled with bologna and banana oil.

He brought back a sample of the filling, and next day he told the people the truth.

Of course, you know what happened. The people were filled with rage. They couldn't admit the truth without confessing their past error, and that was more than human vanity could endure.

They hanged the reporter to a telephone pole. As the noose was being adjusted, he said to himself: "Serves me right. I got by beautifully so long as I made no effort to tell them anything, and I deserve hanging for taking such a crazy risk."

Perhaps you think it didn't happen. But you are quite sure you never heard of such a hanging? Don't you think well of a prophet who tells you things you already know, which is no more than what you want for his hide the moment he tells you something new, which is a real service?

Only the few who thirst for truth realize that nothing can be learned from the criticism of a yes-man.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 4.—Influenza and diphtheria sweeping through the city is causing havoc in picture making and making it impossible for producers, artists and possible victims.

Gene Markey, marooned in his home by reason of the fact that his valet came down with influenza, is now suffering from pleurisy following a vicious attack of the contagious malady. Ramon Novarro is up and about again after a brief illness. Mrs. Frank Joyce is the newest victim of the influenza epidemic.

Gwili Andre, the Danish model who has been surprising Hollywood with her beauty and chic, is glimpsed frequently in the dancing places. The attack of the prevalent flu, Mrs. Andre will have three months of inactivity in the gentle art of motion picture making.

Ann Harding admits having the shortest and most treacherous memory of any woman in Hollywood. Back of this curse lies a trail of broken engagements, hair-breadth escapes.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

CROWDED SCHOOLS FURNISH FAVORABLE ENVIRONMENT FOR STREPTOCOCCUS.

The most virulent septicaemia or "acute blood poisoning," as a complication or consequence of diphtheria, is due to the invasion of the blood through the puncture, blister or scratch, by germs of the streptococcus type.

Scarlet fever is a streptococcus infection. Sore throat and the worst cases of tonsillitis and quinsy are chiefly due to streptococcus infection.

Streptococcus strains are responsible for many cases of acute multiple arthritis or, as the old-timers called it, inflammatory rheumatism.

The general public has heard enough about this germ to know it is a bad actor.

Although it is not in any sense a lamb, nevertheless many times it is a hero. If a man happens to be a healthy carrier, we have not only healthy diphtheria carriers and healthy typhoid carriers but healthy streptococcus carriers. The infection will do at school depends upon the school environment, according to observations made by physicians in England. Dr. Griffith and Griffith found that healthy carriers were almost invariably detected in outbreaks of scarlet fever and tonsillitis or acute sore throat with fever, but without rash, in English schools. These healthy carriers yielded on culture the same type of streptococcus as that found responsible for the scarlet fever or sore throat.

The English physicians regard these unsuspected sources of infection (that is, the healthy carriers) as the most difficult obstacle to the prevention of such epidemics among school children. They believe that epidemics of measles and influenza help to spread the streptococcus, and probably not a few of the healthy carriers acquire their nose and throat flora or bacteria growth from the children, or from household contact with some one who has measles or influenza.

Fiercest Fighting of Shanghai Conflict Breaks To Greet 7 New U. S. Destroyers

Chinese Hold Positions Despite Hard Pounding of Japanese Guns.

ness school in the Japanese-occupied district of Hongkong, was destroyed by flames early today. Chinese said the Japanese entered the four-story dormitory of the school and set fire to the furniture and then put the torch to the institution's other two buildings.

Fresh detachments of the United States marines, brought in on the (Houston, took their places in the International Settlement guard line.

The United States transport Chaumont was expected from Manila today with 1,200 members of the United States first infantry and about 100 additional marines. These new forces will bring the total United States strength to about 8,000 men. So far, all the United States naval vessels en route to Shanghai arrive, there will be a total of 17 American warships in the Whangpo.

The American troops will be billeted in the heart of the business district, within a giant amusement hall known as "New World," where British troops were quartered during the crisis in 1927 in which Chinese nationalist armies threatened to overrun Shanghai.

The British had a hard time keeping off thousands of Chinese refugees who stormed the gates to bridges over Soochow creek in a vain attempt to get into the International Settlement. Only persons holding passes were admitted, for the settlement already was swarming with refugees estimated to total 10,000.

During one of the two engagements yesterday an artillery shell crossed the International Settlement border and exploded in a group of Chinese buildings, blowing a hole from the main postoffice. The shell injured half a dozen Chinese and several houses were burned before the flames were quenched.

The Chinese still held the Woonung forts 16 miles down the Whangpo despite a two-day bombardment by Japanese shells.

Shells blew out the commercial cable head at Woonung, leaving the Great Northern Cable and the radio as the only means of communication with the outside world. The Japanese apologized for this communication break and offered to post a guard over a repair crew.

The first engagement between the Japanese and Chinese in Shanghai Thursday lasted four hours. At its conclusion the Japanese said they had "gained only a little." They expressed hope that a later attack, backed by artillery and the air force, would flatten out the last vestige of resistance in Shanghai and permit a rapid occupation of the city.

But when the second onslaught was laid down the Chinese succeeded in beating off the attackers despite the use of armor and machine guns. The Japanese suffered heavy losses of bullets from numerous machine guns.

The International Settlement municipal council asked United States Consul General S. Cummings to send a senior consular official in Shanghai, to protest to the Japanese authorities, declaring the Japanese naval forces in Shanghai neutral countries, and to demand the evacuation of the northern and eastern portions of the settlement.

JAPAN SENDS DIVISION OF ARMY TO SHANGHAI

OF 5,000 MEN.

TOKYO, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The Japanese government today ordered a full division of the army to Shanghai to relieve the 5,000 bluejackets who have been held out with the Chinese for a week.

This decision was in line with the government's rejection of the item of the peace proposals made by the United States, Great Britain and France, which called upon Japan to cease mobilization and preparations for further hostilities.

A full Japanese army division is composed of two brigades of infantry, a brigade of cavalry, a brigade of artillery, a battalion of engineers and a battalion of the army service corps. The total strength is about 11,000 men.

In ordering the division to Shanghai the cabinet approved a recommendation submitted by Foreign Minister Kenkichi Yoshizawa, General Araki, minister of war, and Admiral Osumi, minister of the navy.

The Japanese reply to the peace proposals submitted by the powers, in which two of the suggestions were conditionally accepted, was handed to the ambassadors of the three nations by Foreign Minister Yoshizawa this evening.

In the reply, the Japanese agreed to refrain from hostile acts in which they received assurances that the Chinese would "immediately and completely cease their menacing and disruptive activities."

In addition, Japan refused to permit mediation by the powers in the conflict with China, especially in so far as that mediation might touch upon the status of Manchuria.

Japan agreed to cease military action in Shanghai if adequately assured the Chinese would do likewise, and to the present situation of withdrawal of the warring forces, and approved the creation of a neutral zone in the Chapei battleground.

The Japanese reply was presented to the three ambassadors—W. Cameron Forbes for the United States, Count Demaree for France, and Sir Patrick Duff for Great Britain—by the Japanese ambassador in Shanghai, Baron Hirohito, the only "elder statesman" still living.

The following English translation of the Japanese reply was supplied by the foreign office:

"First, the Japanese forces in Shanghai will cease hostile acts if it is assured that the Chinese forces will immediately and completely cease their menacing and disruptive activities. If, on the contrary, the Chinese, including both the regular and ununiformed forces, persist in such activities, the Japanese government must preserve its freedom of action for its military forces."

"Second, in view of the unreliability of the Chinese in the past and the present situation, the Japanese government finds it impossible to renounce mobilization or preparations for hostilities.

"Third, the Japanese government has no objection to its consular general and commander at Shanghai entering into negotiations for an agreement concerning separation of the respective forces, and, if necessary, the establishment of a neutral zone in the district of Chapei.

"Fourth, while it is to be presumed that the phrase 'all pending questions between Japan and China' includes the Manchurian question, the Japanese government regards this latter as entirely separate from the Shanghai affair, and, moreover, as covered by a resolution of the League of Nations committee of December 10, 1921, which agreed upon the present situation of the Japanese government not to accept assistance of neutral observers or participants in the settlement of the question concerning Manchuria.

"For these reasons the condition embodied in Paragraph 5 of the powers' note is not acceptable to the Japanese government."

Use of the western section of the Chinese Eastern railway in Manchuria for Japanese troop movements from Tientsin to Harbin was discussed by Alexander G. Markov, soviet ambassador to Japan, and the Japanese foreign minister.

It was understood the Russian ambassador would have to be completed before the Japanese might utilize the road. Russia already has conditionally agreed to the use of the Manchurian Harbin spur for Japanese military purposes.

Washington Hopeful Despite Continuation of Heavy Fighting.

Day's Developments In Sino-Jap Crisis

make a more favorable reply, but Secretary Stimson and his advisers reserved discussion until they have an opportunity to give the Japanese position more study.

Both the state department and Mr. Dohuchi, the Japanese ambassador, expressed confidence today that an arrangement has been effected between the commanding officers of the various defense forces in Shanghai which would prevent any further action being taken to end the Chinese fire directed against the Japanese. American marines, so the state department has been advised, are not fired a single shot at Chinese mortar, but they were exposed to constant Chinese fire when Japanese were stationed in the American sector.

Both the British and American governments sent an additional protest today to the Japanese foreign office through their respective ambassadors in Tokyo, urging that the Japanese take steps to end all activities in the International Settlement which invite the Chinese to make it an object of the international contest and thus bring to an end the Chinese fire directed against the Japanese. American marines, so the state department has been advised, are not fired a single shot at Chinese mortar, but they were exposed to constant Chinese fire when Japanese were stationed in the American sector.

Today was Diplomatic Day at the state department and it brought an unusually large number of ambassadors and ministers eager to have the latest news about developments in the Sino-Japanese situation. The British, French, Italian, Belgian and German ambassadors and the ministers of Portugal, Sweden and The Netherlands were among the guests.

Admiral Pratt, who is in charge of naval operations, talked with Secretary Stimson at the state department for a time and there were many conversations with the navy department officers entrusted with directing the operations of American forces now in Shanghai or about to arrive there.

Admiral Taylor, commander in chief of the Asiatic fleet, sent a navy department message from Shanghai in which he said the removal of the Japanese bluejackets from the American and British sectors of the International Settlement "eases the situation greatly."

He advised the department that the Japanese fleet in the Whangpo, is nearing Shanghai with three cruisers, one destroyer and an aircraft tender, and that he expects to see them in the near future.

The state department in Washington considered that the Japanese reply did not close the door to further suggestions from the powers interested in a pacific settlement.

Japan was willing to cease hostilities in Shanghai if proper assurances were received that China would do likewise, to negotiate for the mutual withdrawal of the warring forces, and to agree to the establishment of a neutral zone in the Chapei battleground.

But the Tokyo government rejected the proposals that preparation for the use of arms and the use of naval power be suspended in mediation over existing controversies with China, particularly the Manchurian question.

Nanking, evacuated by British and American women and children yesterday, was returning to normal.

Fighting in the north station area of Shanghai, where the Japanese navy was reported to have cost the Chinese 1,000 dead and wounded.

Benson Currier, Canadian newspaperman, returned to the International Settlement of Shanghai after having been successfully a captive of each side in the conflict. He had been captured by the Chinese and then by the Japanese.

At Geneva the League of Nations anxiously awaited the first report from its permanent committee, which was expected to report on the conflict at Shanghai.

Admiral Mineo Osumi, in general charge of activities of Japanese bluejackets and warships at Shanghai, told Associated Press that Japanese actions have been entirely defensive and passive.

It was understood the Russian ambassador would have to be completed before the Japanese might utilize the road. Russia already has conditionally agreed to the use of the Manchurian Harbin spur for Japanese military purposes.

Some of the refugees came back to the city. Merchants reported that stocks of rice were large and that more foodstuffs were expected.

RATE BODY TO STUDY PROPOSED SLASHES

A general reduction in telephone, gas and electric rates will be considered here at a meeting of the Georgia Utilities Rate Association to be held at 10 o'clock this morning at the Piedmont hotel.

James L. Mayson, Atlanta city attorney, will attend the meeting as the city's representative. Atlanta joined the association several months ago when an application for an increase in gas rates was before the Georgia public service commission.

In addition to a reduction and general readjustment of rates, the association will consider plans for obtaining

Court Order Bars New Alpharetta City Council From Taking Office Until Vote Dispute Is Settled

Determined to decide who is and who has no right to be declared members of the city council of Alpharetta, political leaders of that town appeared in Fulton superior court Thursday. In the picture at left are (left to right) E. F. Jones and J. W. Burgess, with the mayor,

Ira H. Dodd. Jones and Burgess were enjoined from taking their seats in council. On the right (left to right) are J. B. Williams, contesting the election, and former mayor, V. E. Eison, retiring mayor. Staff photo by Kenneth Rogers.

E. F. Jones and J. W. Burgess were forbidden by court order Thursday from sitting as members of the city council of Alpharetta, when Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy granted political opponents a temporary injunction against such action until the outcome of an election contest before the ordinary. A similar attempt to prevent Ira H. Dodd from taking office of mayor of Alpharetta failed.

Appearing before Judge Pomeroy and C. P. Brady, defeated councilmanic candidates, set forth in the petition that the election was illegal in that some of the ballots cast in the recent election had not been counted.

The controversy started when Jones and Burgess, by mandamus proceedings, forced the retiring council to declare them elected. It was to this procedure that the defeated candidates took exception in their petition for an injunction.

Virtually all political leaders of Thursday council for J. B. Williams Alpharetta were in court Thursday, except Brady, who was ill. The old council was present as was the mayor and entire membership of the newly elected council.

PRINCETON GROUP PLANS TO STUDY CAUSE OF QUAKES

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 4.—(AP)—The cause of earthquakes will be sought by a Princeton University scientific expedition sailing from here today for Santiago, Cuba, where a series of quakes killed several persons and caused millions of dollars property damage Wednesday.

Professor Richard M. Field, of Princeton, heads the expedition. Hugh M. Matheson, of Miami, and Gaines Wilson, of Miami, are members as navigator and biologist, respectively. The party sailed on Matheson's yacht.

They will use submarines and land stations in researches to determine the part of the earth's gravity in earthquakes.

It is the theory of isostasy which they will seek to test off Santiago and at other places in the "island chain." This theory is that the earth's "crust," 60 miles thick, floats on heavier material below. The underlying material is plastic and yielding under continued pressure.

Any two equal sized blocks of the earth's crust are of equal weight, ordinarily, according to this theory and balance each other.

The balance is upset, however, when material is shifted from one block to the other, as when rivers wash land off continents into the sea. The shift makes the under-ocean block heavier. It sinks and the plastic material underneath is forced against the bottom of the other block, forcing it upward.

The sinking and rising take place very slowly, the theory holds. Tension accumulates gradually, then suddenly is released. The resulting shock is an earthquake.

Many scientists believe the theory of isostasy is working under the West Indies, through Mexico and on the west coast of the United States. Professor Field thinks this activity will be discovered, if it exists, by measuring the gravity, thereby showing concentration of lighter material with resultant weak gravity values on the surface above.

CANADA'S CAPITAL OPENS PARLIAMENT WITH COLOR, POMP

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Gay uniforms, mounted soldiers, booming cannon and royal pomp opened Canada's parliament today against a backdrop of white snow.

Lord Bessborough, the governor-general, arrived for the ceremony with Lady Bessborough in an open sleigh accompanied by a mounted escort from the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards.

A messenger was sent to summon members of the commons. He rapped sharply on the oak doors as tradition requires.

The members of the lower house, headed by Speaker George Black, then proceeded to the senate chamber and formed in front of the brass bar, beyond which a commoner may never go, to listen to the governor-general's speech. It was delivered in French and English, the official languages of the dominion.

FIRE SWEEPS TEMPLE, TWO MISSING, ONE DEAD
HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 4.—(AP)—At least one life was lost late Wednesday in a fire that swept the evangelistic temple of Raymond T. Richey and two other persons were reported unaccounted for.

The cause of the fire was not officially determined and the damage was unofficially set at $250,000. Efforts to identify the body of a woman recovered from the ashes beneath the tabernacle's third floor "prayer tower" had been fruitless to-night.

Mrs. A. Rayburn, one of four women in the "prayer tower" shortly before the outbreak of the fire, was reported missing, as was Mrs. Rusk. Services were not in progress at the temple, but four women were engaged in prayer shortly before the blaze started. One of them told reporters she had what she considered a sudden divine warning to leave the temple.

"I don't know how long I had been in the room praying when it seemed to me that God told me to leave there," she said. "There were three other women in the room when I left and started down the stairs. While I was going down the stairs I noticed the smoke. I tried to go back but I couldn't."

PREMIER COMFORTABLE FOLLOWING OPERATION
LONDON, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Premier Ramsay MacDonald, who last night underwent a delicate operation on his left eye, was reported "quite comfortable this morning" in a medical bulletin.

Mr. MacDonald's ailment, glaucoma, was described before the operation as involving a "gradual diminution in the vision of the left eye." He had been suffering from intermittent headaches for some time.

'Wealthiest City' Cuts Employees' Salaries

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 4.—(AP)—The city of Miami Beach, which recently proclaimed itself the wealthiest city in the United States, wants to stay that way.

Claude A. Benschaw, city manager, today presented to the council a suggestion that city salaries be reduced 5 to 40 per cent, department heads to be reduced with a reduction in personnel and that public services be reduced.

This, he predicted, would result in a savings of $200,000 in the year's expenses.

MEXICAN STUDENTS DESIGNATE BAKER UNWELCOME GUEST

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The student federation of the federal district of Mexico last night passed a resolution declaring that Newton D. Baker, former United States secretary of war, who is visiting here, is an unwelcome guest.

The students' attack upon former President Wilson's cabinet member recalled that it was during Baker's tenure of the war secretaryship that General Pershing made his expedition into Mexico in 1916. His visit, the students said, created ill will in Mexico "where vivid memories of that great attack on our sovereignty still exist."

MAL DAUGHTERY WINS FIGHT FOR NEW TRIAL

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Efforts to prevent Mal S. Daugherty, former president of the defunct Ohio State Bank of Washington Courthouse, from obtaining a new trial on charges of misappropriation of funds were defeated by the state supreme court today.

CHARLES M. HUIE DIES; NEPHEW OF BEAVERS

Charles M. Huie, 51, of 1141 Holdderness street, S. W., died Thursday afternoon at a private hospital of acute appendicitis. He was stricken Tuesday night, but it was not thought that he was in a serious condition. Mr. Huie was a step-son of Chief James L. Beavers, of the Atlanta police department.

Funeral services will be held for him at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning at the chapel of J. Austin Dillon. The Rev. E. L. Flanagan will officiate, and interment will be in the Philadelphia Presbyterian church cemetery.

A native of Clayton county, Mr. Huie had resided in Atlanta with his mother and Chief Beavers nearly all of his life. He had been in ill health for some time. He was formerly connected with The Atlanta Constitution.

Besides Chief and Mrs. Beavers, Mr. Huie is survived by two brothers, O. J. Huie and P. T. L. Beavers, of Atlanta; a sister, Mrs. Nora Pysseley, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. R. W. Beavers, both of Atlanta.

TEXAS OIL QUOTA AGAIN IS REDUCED

KILGORE, Texas, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Brigadier General Jacob F. Wolters, acting under instructions from Governor R. S. Sterling, issued a new martial law order in the east Texas oil field today reducing the allowable production from 100 barrels to 75 barrels per well daily.

Slightly more than 4,000 wells are affected, cutting the field's production approximately 100,000 barrels daily.

A. O. DAVIS ELECTED HEAD OF RED CROSS

Arthur O. Davis, manager of the American Surety Company of New York, was elected to succeed G. K. Selden as chairman of the board of directors of the Atlanta chapter of the American Red Cross Thursday night at the annual banquet held at the Ansley hotel. Mr. Selden presided over the meeting.

William Carl Hunt, assistant manager of the eastern area of the national organization of Washington, D. C., was the principal speaker, telling of the work of the Red Cross in this country in times of distress and need. Reports of the various committees, including that of Miss Margaret Fetter, executive secretary, were made before the assembly. All reports showed progress in the work of 1931.

Twelve new directors were elected to the board of 36 to serve three-year terms. Officers chosen, in addition to Chairman Davis, were: E. J. Hardin, vice chairman; Frank Berry, treasurer; and Hugh Carter Jr., secretary.

Students at Oglethorpe Stage School Elopement

Paul Prather, Oglethorpe freshman and Virginia Riggs, junior at the same institution, who slipped away quietly Thursday evening on their honeymoon after their secret marriage. The honeymooners will go to Washington to take part in the bicentennial celebration in honor of George Washington.

Unknown to a large number of their mutual friends at Oglethorpe University where they attended classes, Virginia Riggs, a junior, and Paul Prather, freshman, staged a "school elopement" Thursday night, and at this writing are en route to Washington, D. C., to spend their honeymoon in the city where statesmen point with pride and view with alarm.

Prather, who is 22 years of age, is from Monroe, Ga., and the bride is the 19-year-old daughter of Mrs. L. C. Riggs, of 1402 West Peachtree street, formerly of Albertville, Ala. Only Mrs. Riggs was let in on the secret of the matrimonial plans of the couple, who decided Wednesday that the time had come to do more than merely talk of many things.

And so Thursday evening they hid themselves forth to the residence of Rev. E. M. Altman, pastor of Grant Park Baptist church, where two hearts were made as one, as the saying goes; made goodly to textbooks and boarded the honeymoon express.

view to bringing economic pressure to bear on other countries.

Sir Herbert's attack took most conservative members by surprise. They gathered in lobbies to discuss the liberal member's attitude, and many declared his resignation from the government should be demanded immediately.

ROOSEVELT CONSISTENT ON LEAGUE-HITCHCOCK

is right about the present one at Geneva. We are not going into it. Humanity sooner or later must have a league.

Mr. Hitchcock, whose most recent entrance into partisan politics was his race against Senator George Norris, "to prevent Nebraska becoming a one-party state as in Wisconsin," declared that Roosevelt's attitude was strong in Nebraska. Mr. Shouse, chairman of the democratic executive committee, has personally requested Mr. Hitchcock to present a contest on Senator Norris because Norris had supported Al Smith. "There is," he said, "sporadic or spasmodic or maybe scattered support for Newton Baker, for Owen Young, for Jim Reed and for Al Smith. But the great body of democratic strength in the state is behind Roosevelt."

"I believe it possible for him to carry the state in the general election. I believe it assured that he will carry the state if we democrats fight the battle on economic grounds."

"There is no great swing away from prohibition in Nebraska," said the publisher who employed William Jennings Bryan at the time he was nominated by the democrats in 1896 and who broke with his former editor over prohibition when Mr. Hitchcock was a power in the senate and Mr. Bryan a power in the party. "Sentiment, of course, has changed somewhat and the prohibition cause is less strong than formerly."

"We must not, however, make a major issue of it. We must go down the wide road of democratic principles and republican failures."

"I am sure the party is on the verge of a great victory."

TUMULTU ASSAULTS
EX-AIDES OF WILSON
WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Joseph P. Tumulty today issued a statement assuring an employer, whom he charged with running away "from the peace ideals of Woodrow Wilson" and throwing "sticks and stones" at the League of Nations.

In a formal statement, which mentioned no names, the former secretary to President Wilson said the democratic leadership of 1932 "must be made of finer stuff." He added

While Smith was making this comment, Mayor James H. Curley, of Boston, before sailing for a West Indies cruise, reiterated his opinion that Roosevelt is the logical candidate and that the people of Massachusetts do not take seriously the movement to have Smith enter the race.

Seventy out of every one hundred democrats on the street of the city in Massachusetts, the mayor said, if asked who they thought was the logical democratic candidate for president, would reply: "Roosevelt."

Curley, who visited Governor Roosevelt at Albany recently, said the latter favored a national referendum on the prohibition question.

"Perhaps I shouldn't quote Governor Roosevelt," said Curley, "but I am confident the governor's position on the Volstead act will be acceptable to the voters of the United States if the governor becomes the democratic presidential candidate."

BAKER ISSUES APPEAL FOR UNIVERSAL HARMONY
MEXICO CITY, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Newton D. Baker, former secretary of War and often mentioned as a candidate for the presidency, appealed in an address today for universal peace and guarantees against war.

Speaking to an audience including 300 Americans at the Mexico City Country Club, he praised this country and its people but failed to make any reference to American politics.

"We must protect mankind from future wars," he said. "If civilization is to endure, we must see that it is secured."

"Perhaps one way to accomplish this is to doubt what we have always believed true and come to realize all nations and all peoples, though seeing different languages are the same, aspire to love and live the same and should work in common accord."

"We will have reached the highest point of civilization when we are all in accord that there is no greater happiness than because all are of equal greatness and happiness."

REALTY MAN LOSES
$150 TO HOLDUP MEN
Robert Irving, railroadman and real estate dealer, was held up in his home early Thursday night by two young white men and robbed of between $2,000 and $3,000 in checks and more than $150 in cash, he reported to police. His daughter, Mrs. Maine Smith, was in the house at the time.

Irving, who resides at 798 Bender street, S. W., told police that the two men, armed with sawed-off shotguns, entered his residence and forced him and his daughter to turn over their money. After robbing Irving the men escaped. Search for the bandits, described by Irving and Mrs. Smith, was being conducted late Thursday night by police.

Orphans To Attend Theater As Guests of The Constitution

All the youngsters of the Hillside Cottages and the Hebrew Orphan's home will be guests of The Constitution at the Capitol theater at the showing of "The Unexpected Father," a farce comedy in which Slim Summerville and Zasu Pitts are the featured players. Little Betty Sue Collins, who plays the part of the little girl who adopted Summerville as her "daddy," has asked The Constitution to invite the children of these homes. The residents of the Hebrew Orphan's home will attend Saturday afternoon and the youngsters from the Hillside Cottages will see the picture Tuesday afternoon.

Co-operating with The Constitution, Al Belle Isle will send one of his big Yellow Cab de luxe buses out to bring the children to the theater and to take them back home safely.

"I feel sure the children of Atlanta they had 'surrendered the cause of peace to the mob.'"

Franklin Roosevelt and Newton D. Baker, two men most prominently spoken of for the democratic presidential nomination, have outlined their views recently. Baker said he still favored the League, but was opposed to making it an issue in 1932. Roosevelt said he had concluded the United States should not enter the League in its present form.

JAMES A. GREENE & COMPANY
Advertising

Atlanta Constitution
Atlanta, Georgia
Gentlemen

The Atlanta Constitution has been selected to carry a special used car advertising campaign for the General Motors dealers of this city. The enclosed contract authorizes your paper to publish this advertising.

This campaign, which begins Sunday, February 7th, will bring before the public the many advantages which result from careful consideration before buying a used car. Particular cars, representing the excellence of the values offered by these dealers, will be described in each advertisement.

Because of the numerous successful experiences which this agency has had with the Constitution, we are already confident that this campaign will produce thoroughly satisfactory results.

Sincerely yours,
For: Robert E. Martin
JAMES A. GREENE & COMPANY

In selecting a newspaper in which to publish one of the most outstanding used car campaigns ever conducted in Atlanta—the General Motors dealers of this section have combined their forces for telling their story in the Want Ad Pages of The Atlanta Constitution. Undoubtedly the reason for their selection is summed up in the fact that The Constitution produces greater returns on their advertising dollar than any other Atlanta newspaper.

"Strange Intimacies."

BY RALPH O. BROWN.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Quarrels over men and the purported "strange intimacies" between Agnes Anne LeRoi and Hedvig Samuelson, trunk murder victims, broke up the friendship between the two young women and Winnie Ruth Judd, who is on trial for the slayings, it was testified today.

Briton Accuses Japan
Of Manchurian "Plot"

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(AP)—J. M. Kenworthy, former labor member of the house of commons and retired lieutenant commander in the British navy, has declared England believed Japan is in secret league with France and Russia in her "seizure of Manchuria and invasion of China proper."

"Oh, I know that sounds sensational," he said, "and I know it has been denied by France. But we believe it just the same, and have some reason for our convictions."

"As long as the militarist party is on the top in Japan, the government will endeavor to carry out a tremendously ambitious plan of aggrandizement and conquest."

psychiatrist, related to the jury conversation which he said he had had with the defendant concerning her relations with the victims prior to the killings last October 18. He declared Mrs. Judd to be sane.

Mrs. Judd, the witness said, named Jack Halloran, Phoenix lumber dealer and sportsman, as a man "I love with all my heart and soul more passionately than I ever loved my husband."

Halloran, who volunteered himself as witness, was sworn at the start of the trial and testified that the state witnesses but has not been called.

Discussions and arguments took place among the girls for some time before the slayings, Dr. Catton said Mrs. Judd told him.

"She stated that as a matter of fact arguments over Jack Halloran and 'a Mr. Dixon' and arguments of strange intimacies on the part of Agnes and Sammy were the cause of the fight and anger shown by all three girls."

Mrs. Judd, who is being tried for the slaying of Mrs. LeRoi, also was declared sane by Dr. J. D. Mauldin, Maricopa county physician.

Dr. Mauldin said the accused woman told him she physically could not have dismembered the body of Miss Samuelson. The bodies of the two victims were sent from Phoenix to Los Angeles in trunks and Miss Samuelson's body had been dismembered.

In one portion of her conversations, Dr. Catton related, Mrs. Judd said, "if things do go as the three planned," she would tell everything."

$196,873,000 BID
FOR FEDERAL BONDS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Secretary Mellon announced tonight applications totaling $196,873,000 had been received on the tender of $75,000,000 of 98-day treasury bills dated February 8 and maturing May 11.

The highest bid was $9,450, equivalent to an annual interest rate of about 2.13 per cent. The lowest bid accepted was $9,292. The total amount of bids accepted was $76,390,000.

KENTUCKY GOVERNOR
GIVEN MORE POWER

Don't Dig
Itching Skin

Go to any drugstore and get a bottle of Dr. David's Sensitive Wash; in a few minutes after applying, itching stops, because it penetrates to where the devilish germs burrow into the skin. It kills these germs, soothes the skin, gives you relief from embarrassment and relief from itching torture. If your druggist is out of Dr. David's Sensitive Wash, send direct for 60¢ with relief guaranteed or money refunded. Owens & Minor, Dept. 18, Richmond, Va.—(adv.)

Backache
bother you?

A nagging backache, with bladder irregularities and a tired, nervous, depressed feeling may warn of some disordered kidney or bladder condition. Users everywhere rely on Doan's Pills. Praised for more than 50 years by grateful users the country over. Sold by all druggists.

Varicose Veins
Healed By New Method

No operations nor injections. No enforced rest. This simple home treatment permits you to go about your business as usual—unless, of course, you are already so disabled as to be confined to your bed. In that case, Emerald Oil acts so quickly to heal your leg sores, reduce any swelling and end all pain, that you are up and about again in no time. Just follow the simple directions and you are sure to be helped. Jacobs Pharmacy Co. won't keep your money unless you are.—(adv.)

MUSCULAR—
RHEUMATIC PAINS

DRAW them out with a "counter-irritant." Muscular lumbago, soreness and stiffness—generally respond to good old Musterole. Doctors call it a "counter-irritant" because its warming action penetrates and stimulates blood circulation and helps to draw out infection and pain. It gets action and is not just a salve. But do not stop with one application. Apply this soothing, cooling, healing ointment generously to the affected area once every hour for five hours. Used by millions for over 20 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

CONSTABLE CONVICTED OF ACCEPTING BRIBES

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 4.—(AP)—S. D. Calloway, suspended constable, was found guilty here of two charges of accepting bribes. Sentence was deferred pending a motion Monday for a new trial.

Some time ago, he was convicted of making false expense accounts, and was sentenced to 90 days in jail or $200 fine. He appealed and a decision is pending.

ALABAMA INDICTED
IN DEATH OF WOMAN

ANNISTON, Ala., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Charles A. Hamilton Jr., son of a wealthy pipe manufacturer, today was indicted for murder in the first degree for the New Year's Eve shooting of Mrs. Paul Cornelius, wife of a prominent wholesale produce dealer.

The indictment was returned by the Calhoun county grand jury and Hamilton was released under $7,500 bond.

Mrs. Cornelius was struck in the back of the head by a stray bullet while riding along a downtown street with her husband.

Mount Vernon To Have
Postoffice for a Day

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Mount Vernon, known to everybody who has heard of George Washington, will have a postoffice for one day, the date being the significant one of February 22.

The postoffice department is setting up facilities to secure cancellation on biennial stamps to aid the Washington bicentennial and to give stamp collectors opportunity to secure a rare specimen.

Those assigned to the Washington homefront are expecting a busy day handling outgoing mail.

WOMAN'S WEAKNESS

Valdosta, Ga.

"I was so run-down and weak a few years ago I was not able to do any of my household work," said Mrs. P. H. Boyd, of 308 West St. "I suffered from woman's weakness and was in a very nervous condition. Finally I decided to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and can truthfully say it is the best tonic I ever tried—I soon noticed a wonderful change—felt so different, more like myself. I continued taking it until I had regained all of my strength. Now, whenever I feel run-down I take a bottle or two of the 'Prescription' and soon am back to normal health." All druggists. ## Bobby Jones Fails To Secure Major League Aid From Yanks; Tech Marathon Star Earns Olympic Trial by Great Performance

BOBBY UNABLE TO SECURE AID IN BIG LEAGUES

Champion Golfer Finds Dealing in Player Market Tough Job.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The man who whipped the golf courses of two continents to a frazzle, whose name is a household word wherever the ancient and honorable pastime is played, discovered today it's quite another matter trying to influence baseball's inner sanctums.

Bobby Jones, in his capacity as an official of the Atlanta club of the Southern association, was just another fellow shopping for ball players. He didn't get any.

Bobby accompanied the Crackers' new manager, "Red" Barron, in a friendly call on the New York Yankees, hoping to obtain a few star performers or form some sort of alliance with Colonel Ruppert's forces.

"Not a chance," said Secretary Ed Barrow, or words to that effect. "We're looking for some good ones ourselves, especially right-handed pitchers. Besides, we're already tied up with Newark. They get any we don't need."

Not at all discouraged, Jones and Barron said they would continue their search for talent.

"We are in the process of reorganization," said the world golf champion. "Barron ought to make us a good manager and I look for a fine season if we can bolster up the team in a few spots and I can get my iron to working—no, that's another game."

Jones said there was little possibility the Crackers would engage Wilbert Robinson, former Brooklyn manager, in any capacity.

"There was never much to the Robinson story. We couldn't offer anything interesting enough to him. Bobby left in the afternoon for the artists and writers annual golf tournament at Palm Beach, Fla., leaving Barron to do the baseballing for both of them."

Grantland Rice To Visit Atlanta

Grantland Rice, America's outstanding authority on sports, will accompany Bobby Jones to Atlanta for a week-end visit. From Atlanta he will go to Palm Beach to participate in the annual artists and writers golf tournament. After the tournament Rice will go to Augusta and will inspect the new golf course being built under Jones' supervision.

PERKINS MOVES INTO SEMI-FINALS

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Feb. 4.—(AP)—T. Philip Perkins, former British amateur champion, today advanced to the semi-finals of the national championship of golf club champions by defeating J. R. Hyerson, Coopers town, N. J., 1 up in a hard-fought match.

Robert H. Lansdell, veteran Hackensack (N. J.) player, eliminated Robert E. Wingate, Jacksonville, Fla., former national public links champion, 2 and 1.

C. Bayard Mitchell, Woodbury, N. J., was 1 down at the turn that shot the remaining holes in even four to win, 2 and 1, over Dom Soccoli, New Britain, Conn.

Jack Toomer, Florida state champion, won easily 2 up on Robert W. Wilson, Brookline, Mass. Toomer was 3 under par on the first nine and 4 up, 10 to the 15th, where he tightened to win.

Russell, Marist Meet Here Today

Two games this afternoon will feature Atlanta's prep basketball activities for the week-end. The DePaul High plays a pair of games tonight at Thomaston and another double-header Saturday night at Griffin.

Russell, runner-up to DePaul for leadership of the N. C. C. meets Marist and Commercial plays University school in the local features for this afternoon. The first game will likely be played at the University, weather permitting, and University plays Commercial at the auditorium armory.

Athens To Present Tulane Pictures

Motion pictures of the Tulane-Southern California Rose Bowl game will make their debut on the screen of the Strand theater at Athens next Wednesday, it was announced yesterday.

Coach Harry Mehre and his Georgia football squad will be guests of the management. Since the Bulldogs played against the Trojans Athens people are greatly interested in seeing them in action against Tulane.

Strib Beats Hunt, Playing Jai Alai

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Sports note: Young Stribling, of Macon, Ga., today laid claim to the heavyweight boxing title by defeating Hunt in the first round of the Jai Alai championship.

Stribling defeated Babe Hunt, of Ponca City, Okla., 10 to 8, in an exhibition singles match at the Biscayne. But as Jai Alai players, both the boys admitted that hereafter they would put in most of their time on boxing.

Thrills in sport—not all of them are before cheering crowds. I watched Ray Miller, Georgia Tech student, run 25 and 8-10 miles Thursday afternoon in a test over approximately the marathon distance. Ten years ago he was a weakling.

He ran alone, trailed by a car in which rode Coach W. A. Alexander and Mike Chambers, coach and trainer at Tech. He ran with a cold, chill wind blowing. He ran that distance in 2 hours, 55 minutes and 50 seconds under adverse conditions.

There was much that was interesting before the start. Miller is a small man, as most distance men are. His legs, though, are enough to make Marlene Dietrich keep away from windy corners because of the comparison. They are better constructed.

Mike Chambers, the Tech trainer, rubbed those legs and all of Miller's body with a strong, hot liniment. That heated them up.

Over that he rubbed grease, a lot of it. The grease was heavy. Miller's legs looked like those of a channel swimmer about to plunge in. His face was greased slightly to keep the wind from chapping it.

He wore the conventional track shorts, a woolen gym shirt and a sweat shirt. Then came the preparation for his feet.

His feet were coated with tallow. His socks were heavy with grease. His feet slid into them, feet that had to pound 26 miles over pavement. His shoes, flat-soled running shoes, were tied on. Miller walked to the starting line.

Coach Alexander held the watch. Miller leaned forward.

"Go," said Coach Alexander, and Miller was on. His pace was surprisingly fast for one starting out with a quarter of a century of miles ahead of him.

We followed behind. The symmetrical legs of the distance runner looked like yellow ivory coated with yellow grease. There was no play of muscles apparent at the start.

THE FIRST FOUR MILES.

People stared curiously as the slight figure moved along at an even, smooth pace. He ran easily, without effort, as if he were some machine.

The first four and three-tenths miles passed quickly, so quickly that we were amazed to look at the watch and find that he had covered the distance in an even 25 minutes.

He swung around and into the second lap. Those legs still moved without a variation in their pace. He was on his toes running strong.

Coach Alexander checked him with the speedometer of the automobile. He was running at a pace of 10 miles an hour most of the way. On one long pull near the waterworks he ran uphill at that pace.

School children stopped to stare at him. Once a small boy trotted behind him. He ran on, watching the traffic at cross streets, taking it calmly.

The grease began to melt and run down his legs. Some of it collected just back of the knees, making a white line there.

People in automobiles stared at him. Men at work stopped. Once some convicts in their striped uniforms looked at him in what I thought to be a longing manner, as if they, too, would like to join him in a run somewhere away from there.

And then, quickly it seemed, he was finished with that lap and ready for another.

FOOD FOR STRENGTH.

At the finish of the next one Mike Chambers was waiting with an orange cut in half. On each half was piled dextrose sugar. Dextrose sugar gets into the blood stream within a couple of minutes. It is exactly in the proportion as the blood receives glucose sugar taken into the body and broken down into dextrose.

Miller grinned and shouted, "They taste good." He kept on. We could see the muscles in his legs begin to show like cords. They worked smoothly, effortlessly, slipping and sliding beneath the ivory skin and its covering of grease like snakes at play.

There was no slowing down of the pace. He was still strong. He was well up on his toes. One got to thinking. Here was a boy who had run more than 12 miles and who seemed to think nothing of it. The average man cannot run a quarter of a mile at the pace Miller was taking. He seemed to be getting fun out of it. Once he waved back a kid who ran out with a long stick as if to hit him across the legs. He sucked at the orange, getting every bit of the juice.

TOWARD THE FINISH.

One more lap and Miller had gone more than 17 miles. His pace had slowed a bit but not perceptibly. Instead of running nine and ten miles an hour he was down to eight and nine and seven on the hills.

We drove alongside and asked how he felt. He said he felt fine and grinned to show it. He was not even panting. His breathing was not perceptible so far as any heaving of the chest was concerned. What a great heart and pair of lungs that boy must have. His legs moved rhythmically with not a hint of weariness.

He made the turn and started back. One leg, he said, was tightening up a bit. He lengthened his stride coming down hills and the tightness disappeared. He finished up with more orange juice and sugar. It was cold and the wind biting as he finished the next to the last lap.

THE CRAMP AGAIN.

A hundred yards out and the leg cramped again. He stopped and hobbled for a few yards, kicking out with the leg. It was the only time during the long afternoon that he broke that pace. He went on running. We pulled up and told him he was on schedule. Three hours was the time estimated for him. He nodded and went on.

Somehow the thing got to be terribly exciting. Here was a boy out there in the cold streets running for a chance to enter the most gruelling competition the world knows. There were no bands to cheer him, no yelling.

JAFFEE MAKES FLASHY SPURT TO WIN SKATING

As Team, United States Scores 29 Points, Leads Field.

By Edward J. Neil, Associated Press Sports Writer.

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Driving through a bitter wind and raging snowstorm, slim Irving Jaffee, New York veteran, finished a job today that he started four years ago at St. Moritz and added a brilliant finale to the astonishing American domination of the opening day of the 1932 winter Olympic games.

A ferret on skates, Jaffee came from nowhere in the last hundred yards of the 5,000 meters speed skating final to dethrone a defending champion, Ivar Ballangrud of Norway, snatch the title by inches from a teammate, Eddie Murphy, of Chicago, and match Jack Shea's feat of winning the 500 meters championship earlier in the day.

His marvelous spurt sent the American flag flying to the top of the scoring pole for the second time in the day, while a brass band added new eddies to the driving snow as it poured out the "Star-Spangled Banner" under terrific difficulties.

SOFT ICE. Four years ago at St. Moritz, in Switzerland, Jaffee, a clerk on leave from a Wall Street brokerage office, was leading the 10,000 meters event, heading full steam ahead, but soft ice stopped him, half way to the goal, the race was cancelled, and he had to wait until today to reach an Olympic finish line in triumph.

Today, the triumph, added to Shea's dash to victory in the only short speed event of the day, was enough to surpass within a few hours, the total conquests of the United States skaters in the two past winter Olympics.

Tonight he was an outstanding favorite to win the 10,000 meters final Saturday, just as he had won a certain winner in the 1,500 meters final tomorrow, and the United States seems assured of its first winter Olympic championship.

As a team, in addition to the only two titles available today, the United States had scored 29 points, 18 of them in the 5,000 meters event where the delegation of Norway and Sweden were expected to dominate the field. Canada, another surprisingly strong contender, stood second with 13, and Norway with 8.

U. S. LOSES ONE.

The sole American setback of the day was Canada's 2-1 overtime victory over the United States team while Germany was downing Poland by the same score. Jaffee's time, 9 minutes, 40.8 seconds did not threaten the world record of 2:21.6 by the Swede, but like Shea he is credited with a new Olympic record.

The best Ballangrud could do today was to finish 10 yards behind the winner, while Evensen, seeking another title to replace what Shea had taken, was inches back in sixth place. Bill Logan, of Canada, finished eighth, edging out Herbert Taylor, New York. Frank Stack and Harry Smyth, Canadians, finished seventh and eighth, respectively.

Several Olympic champions were dethroned by the conquests of Shea and Jaffee. Holding the lead from the start of the final heat of the 500 meters dash, Shea sped over the course in 43.4 seconds to beat Bent Bennt Evensen, of Norway, by fully five yards just as Ballangrud faded before Jaffee. His time tied that made by Evensen in tying Clas Thunberg for the 500-meter Olympic championship in 1928.

Grantham Is Sold To Cincinnati Reds

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The sale of George Grantham, first baseman, to the Cincinnati Reds, was announced today by the Pittsburgh National League Baseball club. The big first baseman was sold for cash, but the Pirates management refused to reveal the amount.

German Captain Tells Thrills Of Sled Spill

By Captain Werner Zohn, Germany Bob-Sleigh Champion. LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 4.—(AP)—My sail of 110 feet through the air after cracking up in zigzag was the greatest thrill of my entire racing career.

The injury to my arm is nothing at all. As soon as it gets better I'm going right back to bob sledding. The fact that our team will be unable to shoulder its responsibility to Germany in the Olympic games. During my 26 years of bob sledding I've been in five accidents, not a bad average for any sport, but I never before took an airplane ride on a bob. You know, we really should have been killed—take a man and throw him through the air at terrific speed for 110 feet, then drop him 45 feet more into a thicket of trees, stumps and rocks, and you expect to find him dead. I feel something like the cat with nine lives.

Every member of my team is keen to get back into the game. I guess that's what bob sledding does to you. You take hold of it and you can't let it drop—at least until it drops you.

But I must say it is a wonderful place to have an accident if you must be injured somewhere. If we can't race in the games at least we can take our places with the German delegation at the ceremonies today. I would do that if I had broken both legs.

Tech's Marathon Runner

Ray Miller, Georgia Tech student and long-distance runner, is shown on the last lap of a 25 and 8.10-mile run held Thursday afternoon to determine whether he would be entered in the marathon competition this spring in a trial for the Olympic

SMITHIE BOXERS HOLD TOURNEY

Members of 1931 Football Squad To Take Part Tonight.

Six bouts, starting at 7:30 o'clock tonight on the Henry Grady basketball court, will feature the opening of Tech High's annual boxing tournament. An admission of 10 cents for students and 25 cents for outsiders will be charged to go into the school athletic fund.

Approximately 50 youngsters are out for the tournament, which in addition to selection of champions in the various weights will determine those boxers to represent the school in future tournaments.

Several members of the 1931 football squad are candidates for the boxing team and will appear on the program.

The eliminations will continue twice each week until every candidate has been given ample opportunity to win his way to the finals.

Those on tonight's program are Hollis Simons and Maurice Towery, John Smith and James Proctor, W. Stalk and W. Hubbs, F. C. Sutton and L. H. Jones, Davis Williams and J. P. Cronin and Lewis Hindman and Hugh Hamilton.

In case any of those fail to show up, others will be substituted. Each bout will be three two-minute round affairs and the regular amateur rules will apply. E. L. Shepherd, the boxing instructor at Tech High, will be in charge of the bouts.

Anderson Signs As Irish Coach

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Hearty (Hunk) Anderson today signed a contract to head Notre Dame's football army for another year. He was given the title of head coach.

Marchmont Schwartz, star halfback for the Irish forces last season, was named backfield coach with a year's concession. Tom Yarr, captain of the 1931 eleven, was named center coach, with Nardy Hoffman, another star of the 1931 team, and Ike Voedlich, line and end coaches, respectively.

GATORS VICTORS.

WINTER PARK, Fla., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Florida defeated Rollins in a rough and tumble basketball game here Wednesday, 34 to 19. The Gators were leading by 18 to 12 at the half but pulled away during the last stages as Coach Brady Cowell tossed substitutes into his machine until it was functioning right.

Spiller Will Handle Concessions at Park

R. J. Spiller, resigned business manager of the Atlanta baseball club, has been awarded the concessions at Spiller field during the 1932 season, it was learned yesterday.

Concession bids were called for by the Atlanta Baseball and Amusement Company and Mr. Spiller made the highest offer. Several other local men offered bids.

Mr. Spiller already owns a swimming pool and cafe near the park. The former Cracker chief will devote all his time to handling the concessions and will not be actively identified with other matters of the club, it was explained, although he owns a majority of the stock.

Open, Amateur Dates Decided

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Dates for qualifying rounds of the United States open and amateur golf championships were announced Wednesday by the United States Golf Association. Qualifying rounds in the open fixture will be played June 6 at Flushing, N. Y., and the amateur championship will open August 16 at Baltimore. Entry lists for the open will be closed May 17, and amateur entries will close July 26.

WILLS, HARDWICK BATTLE TONIGHT

All-Star Colored Fight Card in Auditorium Ring.

Young Harry Wills, of New York, tiger of the eastern battle grounds, who has invaded the south to add to his laurels, is all set for the going to meet Lon Hardwick, Atlanta, southern champion, in the main bout on Promoter Cleve Roby's all-star boxing card tonight at the city auditorium.

Each bout will be three two-minute round affairs and the regular amateur rules will apply. E. L. Shepherd, the boxing instructor at Tech High, will be in charge of the bouts.

MEVER TO PLAY FOR KNOXVILLE

Vol Star Also, Named Coach of Backs at Davidson.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Gene McEver, University of Tennessee football star, is a very fortunate young man. He not only has a job, he has two jobs.

Today he signed with the Knoxville Smokies, Southern association baseball club, as a utility infielder. Wednesday night he was named backfield coach at Davidson College, Davidson, N. C.

McEver will leave Sunday for Davidson College to begin spring football practice there next week. He expects to join the Smokies here in March.

The sensational halfback has played amateur baseball in this section for several years. In 1930 he suffered a leg injury while playing baseball at Appalachia, Va. It kept him from playing football that year. But after an operation he came back in 1931 to become one of the greatest halfbacks ever to play at Tennessee.

Ruggirello Gets Chance Tonight

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Salvatore Ruggirello, a free-swinging Italian with a lethal right hand, will get his big chance tomorrow night when he substitutes for Paulino Uscudun, the battered Basque, in a 15-round engagement with Ernie Schaaf at Madison Square Garden.

Paulino was removed from the picture today when Dr. William Walker, physician for the New York state athletic commission, found he had suffered a fracture of his left side while training. Ruggirello, originally scheduled to meet Eddie Benson in a semi-final, immediately was substituted.

Tall and wide of shoulder, the Italian has been fighting around these parts a year or more, but his bout with the hard-hitting sailor will be his first of major importance.

Y Matmen Qualify In Bouts Saturday

Qualifying for positions on the Y. M. C. A. wrestling team which will participate in the annual state tournament February 20 at LaGrange, will be held at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

As an added attraction, finalists in the boys' boxing tournament will fight three rounds. Harry Broadnax meets Jay Armstrong and Jack Kelley battles Dave Clark for the junior title.

Eight wrestling matches, representing each of the different weights, have been booked for tonight, with A. K. Bell slated to meet Jim Argoe in the main attraction.

Athens Will Play Seminary Tonight

Washington Seminary's basketball team will meet Athens High school at 7:30 o'clock tonight on the seminary court in a return game. Washington Seminary defeated Athens High, 22 to 17, two weeks ago on the Athens court.

Miss Josephine Meador is captain of the team.

MILLER SHOWS MUCH STAMINA ON LONG JAUNT

Coach Alexander Greatly Pleased With Star's Performance.

By Ralph McGill.

Ray Miller, Georgia Tech student, will be given a chance to participate in one of the Olympic trials in the marathon event, greatest of all Olympic game events, because of his showing Thursday afternoon.

Miller, who comes to Tech from Spokane, Wash., ran a measured course of 25.8-10 miles Thursday afternoon in 2 hours 55 minutes and 50 seconds, finishing strong and in good condition.

His performance was all the more remarkable because of the course. A large portion of it was up grade. The afternoon became steadily colder and the last eight miles were run in a cold, chilling wind. The course was not a straight-away run but one which had to be covered six times with the hazard of traffic to be watched in addition to the business of running.

FINISHES STRONG. Miller finished in perfect condition. He was not tired and was not breathing hard enough to be noticeable. His legs bothered him only once, the left one cramping a bit for a half-mile after he had passed the 20-mile mark.

Miller was under the constant supervision of Coach W. A. Alexander and Mike Chambers, trainer. He was also examined by a physician before his start. Miller has been running for some years but this was his first try at the long distance of more than 25 miles. He ran 20 miles last Saturday as a warm-up for the test of Thursday.

After the first 12 miles he was fed orange juice and dextrose sugar.

"I am greatly pleased at Miller's showing," said Coach Alexander. "I hope it will be possible to have him sent to one of the eastern trials which will give him a chance at the Olympic games. He deserves it."

The amazing thing about Miller is that he had no fatigue after the finish. He is now one of the best college distance men at 10 miles and more. Mike Chambers has been his coach and trainer.

TRAINED BY MIKE. Mike Chambers, trainer, put Miller in good shape for the test. Miller's feet and socks were coated in grease, as was his body.

Miller will train from now until June before going to one of the trials. Coach Alexander and Chambers both declared that several minutes could be cut from the trials Thursday by a course where there was less traffic.

The marathon distance is 26 miles, 385 yards. Miller will be tested over that distance at a later date.

Miller said that he felt fine and did not feel tired after the finish. He was put to bed after being rubbed and given hot tomato soup.

Gerlach Leading 'Pitch and Putt'

HARRY GERLACH, municipal golfer, with a 63, nine strokes over par, took the lead in the qualifying rounds of the "pitch and putt" Junior Chamber of Commerce golf tournament being played on the Venetian Athletic Club course.

Gerlach's 72 was dropped to second place. Due to excessive rains and high winds during the week, the qualifying affair and a later feature through Sunday afternoon with the finals scheduled for next week.

It will be a medal play handicap affair and a later feature through Sunday afternoon with the finals scheduled for next week.

Dibrell Williams Signs Mack Papers

CONWAY, Ark., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Dibrell Williams, who last fall as shortstop for the Philadelphia Athletics, today signed and returned his contract for 1932, which he said calls for an increase in salary.

The Faulkner county youth, who played errorless baseball in the last World Series and also had a good batting average, was assured of holding the regular shortstop berth by the recent sale of Boley to Cleveland.

N. A. P. S., Monroe Meet Saturday Night

The second game of the basketball season for the North Avenue Presbyterian school will be played against Monroe High at the Emory court, Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock. The admission is 35 cents.

Horse Is Second, Pays $971.10 for $2

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 4.—(AP)—What is believed to be a record place price was paid today when Joe Edwards' "Basil" ran second in the first race at Hialeah Park and returned $971.10 for $2.

A similar priced show ticket returned $248.50.

If the three-year-old had won, he would have paid $2,428.50 for $2. Twelve dollars was bet on the horse to place and $4 to show. He finished a length and a half back of Buoyant Days, the winner.

Although today's race was his third, Basil had never finished closer to the money than fifth.

FLORRID SOUGHT BY ENGEL CLUB FOR 1932 DRIVE

Bert Niehoff Negotiating With Wichita Falls for Former Jacket.

Dick Florrid, former Georgia Tech pitcher and member of the Wichita Falls, Texas league club last season, may join the pitching staff of the Chattanooga Lookouts for 1932 if Bert Niehoff can make the proper arrangements.

Florrid, who began his professional career in the Southeastern league, had an unusually good record in 1931, being especially adept as a relief pitcher.

For some time he has wanted to join up with a Southern league club and Niehoff has become interested in him.

A deal, whereby Florrid would be sent to Chattanooga by Wichita Falls, is now being contemplated by Niehoff and Joe Engel and if completed the former Jacket star will immediately sign with the Lookouts.

THE SPORTLIGHT

Before Brooklyn made the Hack Wilson dicker, it looked as if Max Carey might figure on lifting the Dodgers into glory by their own boot straps. Now they've picked the smallest-shoed baseballer in the ranks of headline figures, so his boot straps won't help a lot. But Hack's wail-off may.

Howling down the talk of football's 1931 deflation comes the reassuring news that the once autumnal game has now closed its circuit and is a year 'round pastime.

Football drills in some of the leading southern colleges, Vanderbilt, North Carolina, Oglethorpe and others, had already begun when Ernie Nevers' all-star team beat Frankie Carideo's combination before 40,000 spectators in a benefit game at San Francisco recently.

Of course, gridmen being enthusiasts, tie about their sport despite George Owen's deathless remarks to the contrary, they may be expected to play at any and all times, but the fact that 40,000 fans turned out to see a late January game argues against those who begin yawning in early December and thank the powers that arranged things so that football was a brief of hysterical derision dance.

Twenty Grand's Return Engagement.

Horses like Willie Sharpe Kilmer's Sun Beau, which keep winning year after year, don't gallop over the turf very often. And in the case of great campaigners like Man of War and Gallant Fox, their meteoric and monopolizing careers are more apt to be brief, with other contenders besides winning races to be kept in mind.

So it's pleasant to hear that 1931's tip-of-the-tongue horse, the Greentree's Twenty Grand, has come through the winter well after its temporary retirement last fall, and will be in training next summer, bent on defending its laurels in the Saratoga cup and Jockey club gold cup, as well as picking up additional honors along the way.

Its chief rival last summer, "Pete" Bostwick's Mate, has also been nominated for these two classics. Folks who missed seeing the handsome Whitney horse in its two-year-old campaign of last year, will still have a chance to file it away in memory along with the greats of past years.

Peering Down From Olympus.

An unprecedented number of famous figures will stand in the shadows as the 1932 baseball season opens for the last 12 months have taken a heavier toll of this game than any previous year.

William Wrigley Jr. is gone with the departed battalion of mighty men of the diamond, which included Ban Johnson, former czar of the American league; C. A. Comiskey, who deposed Johnson and set up Ernest Barnard, who has also passed on since last year's opening, and Sam Dreyfuss, one of the younger men, vice president and treasurer of the Pittsburgh National league club and one of the most alert of the executives.

During the same period football lost its Rockne, international sport its Sir Thomas Lipton, and more recently, aviation has lost two of its outstanding figures in "Red" Jackson and Eddie Stinson.

Sparta Sportsmen To Preserve Game

SPARTA, Ga., Feb. 4.—Sparta and Hancock county sportsmen will attend the statewide meeting in Macon February 16 of hunters and others interested in the propagation of more game and the conservation of the present supply.

Local sportsmen are especially interested since it is possible that one of the largest bodies of land in this county, the M. W. Morris plantation, may be leased for five years as a game refuge to be used exclusively for raising quail.

RIVAL OUTFITS ADD STRENGTH FOR CAMPAIGN

Giants and Cubs, Yankees and Senators Prepared to Battle.

By Gayle Talbot, Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(P)—The rarest specimen in the baseball world right now is a manager who thinks he has a club capable of beating the St. Louis Cardinals or Philadelphia Athletics to the wire next September.

He is so rare, in fact, as to be practically extinct. Two days of arch-rivalry attendance upon the annual mid-winter meetings of the major leagues here this week failed to uncover a single pilot or club owner willing to predict, quietly but firmly:

"Yep, boys, we'll take them this year. We've got a great team—great pitching, great batting, great fielding. The Cardinals or Athletics, as the case may be, are bound to slip. They can't hold that pace always. And we're going to be right there to take their place."

That, as any well-versed fan knows, is what a manager is supposed to say at this happy season, with opening of the spring camps only a fortnight away and "play ball" just beyond. But try to get a statement like that this year.

The ease with which Gabby Street's Cards and Connie Mack's Elephants swept the boards again last season apparently was a powerful convincer. Their closest rivals, the Giants and the Cubs, the Yankees and the Senators, have bolstered desperately during the winter in an effort to match the strength of the pacesetters. They hope they have succeeded, but they don't know. It's a tough situation.

The consensus is the Athletics, standing pat and again depending on their "big three"—Grove, Walberg and Earnshaw—to pitch them to a pennant, will be just as strong. The Cardinals, despite the loss of Burleigh Grimes from their mound staff, are expected to be even better. Their three young pitchers, Dizzy Dean, Ray Starr and Tex Carleton, have the rest of the league worried.

Close Games Open Rainbow League

Two close games were played Wednesday night on the Y. M. C. A. court in the opening of the Rainbow Basketball league. The Red Devils defeated the Blue Hawks, 17 to 10, and the Black Hawks won over the Green Dragons, 16 to 10.

Bill Daly, Strong Man, Weakens Under Strain

Cracker Trainer Complains As Doctor Cuts Down on His Diet; Likes Food.

By Jimmy Jones.

Big Bill Daly, one of our old-line epicureans, is flat of his back and can't do a thing about it. For many years now, Big Bill has been the neighborhood strong man. His feats of strength are well known around and about. It is said that he can juggle a set of dumbbells as if they were marbles and that he never has to call in help in moving a simple article of furniture like a piano.

Being a pretty good-sized heavyweight, Bill has been able to resist the ordinary ailments of weaker men and has spent most of his time restoring fellow citizens to health.

But the other night on the way out to his house, Bill became involved in an automobile accident. After a checkup it was discovered that he had received sufficient injuries to confine him to his bed for an indefinite period.

"Any here I am, flat of my back for the first time in 30 years," Bill said mournfully. Daly has been visited by minor illnesses before but always insisted on staying on his feet and waiting on himself. Now Mrs. Daly has to administer the medicines while Bill lies helpless.

FRIENDS CALL. Since becoming physically incapacitated, Bill has had many of his friends to call on him. All of them have brought some toothsome delicacy but Bill cannot touch any of them, simply because the doctor said not to do so by any means.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Niehoff brought a basket of fruit. But two of Bill's jaw teeth got away in the wreck and he doesn't eat it. Dick Niehaus fetched a nice country ham but that also has been tabooed. Irish Benny Kline, the expugilist, sent a big cake. Ditto.

ALL THIS INHIBITION has been very straining on the Daly constitution for he is a great gastronomist and lover of good victuals.

To make matters worse, Bill could not go to see Wallace Beery, his favorite movie hero, in "Hell's Drivers." He could not go to the wrestling match. And if there's anything Daly likes better than a wrestling match, it's two of them.

The crushing blow came when Chick Roos and Red Barron brought Bill a set of crutches.

"It would take nothing less than a tractor to move him," Mrs. Daly informed them. So there Big Bill must lie until his sprained back mends. Meanwhile, he hopes to be able to start training the Atlanta Crackers in a couple of weeks and, perhaps, start helping himself to such things as cake and ham.

"I wish it was a charley horse," I'd soon have it rubbed out," the trainer said yesterday.

'Y' Triangles Beat Grace Quintet, 38-35

Atlanta Triangles added another base to their victory by their string with a 38-to-35 win over the Grace Methodists Thursday in the Luckie street court. It was the tenth victory against only one loss for the Triangles.

The scoring for Grace with 12 points each for the Triangles, while Stephens, a former Atlanta Athletic Club star, topped the scoring for Grace with 12 points.

ATLANTA STARS HOLD TO LEAD IN CUE TOURNEY

Lovejoy Increases Margin; Purdy, 1931 Champ, and Lewis Tied.

Atlanta's billiard players continued to share top honors Thursday in the third annual three-cushion billiard tournament being played at the Elks Club on Peachtree street.

Paul Lovejoy holds the lead with three straight victories, with Harry Purdy, defending champion, and A. D. Lewis, Atlanta, tied for second, with two wins and one loss each.

Lovejoy defeated George Bruner, Birmingham, 50 to 21 in 66 innings Thursday in the best game of the tourney thus far. Lovejoy had high runs of 5 and 4, while Bruner had a best run of 6, but Lovejoy's consistency won out.

Tommy Johnson, Chattanooga star, suffered his second straight defeat to new Atlanta stars, when Lewis defeated him 50 to 38 in the major upset of the tourney. Williamson, another Atlanta newcomer, upset the Chattanooga Wednesday.

THURSDAY RESULTS. George Bruner, Birmingham, beat R. W. Fox, Birmingham, 50-21.

Paul Lovejoy, Atlanta, beat George Bruner, Birmingham, 50-21.

R. W. Fox, Birmingham, beat Red Williamson, Atlanta, 50-38.

A. D. Lewis, Atlanta, beat Tom Johnson, Chattanooga, 50-38.

Harry Purdy, Atlanta, beat Red Williamson, Atlanta, 50-38.

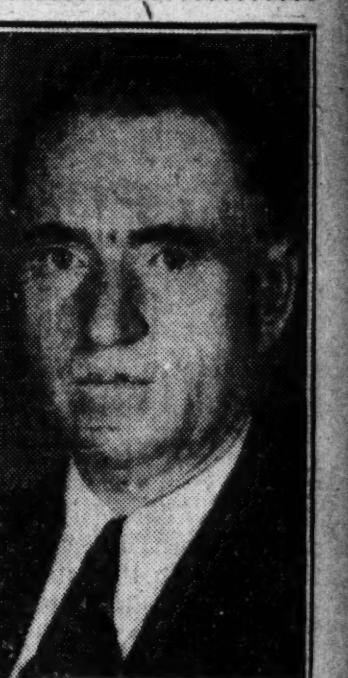

12 O'clock—Lovejoy vs. Lewis.

students urging him on. There was just the purr of an automobile engine behind him.

Twenty-six miles. "Stonewall" Jackson's troops and others in other wars spent all day marching that far. He was on his way back. Coach Alexander recalled that Miller was once a weakling and took up running to build himself up. And now he was running miles easily. He finished the race. There was no heavy breathing. He walked in and climbed on a table. "I feel great, not tired at all," he said.

Back in the mists of antiquity a Greek, who had fought all day, ran 26 miles, 385 yards from Marathon to Athens to tell the news of victory. And since that day the race, which Miller wants to win, honors him. Thrills in sport—Thursday saw one.

GEORGIA DEMOCRATS TO FIX PRIMARY DATE

Sub-Group of State Executive Committee Meets Today in Macon.

MACON, Ga., Feb. 4.—(P)—The date for a presidential preference primary in Georgia will be fixed, and rules and regulations governing it will be submitted for the approval Friday of a subcommittee of the state democratic executive committee meeting at 10 o'clock at the Hotel Dempsey.

The subcommittee is authorized by the general committee to arrange details for a presidential primary and presidential convention and therefore no meeting of the entire committee will be necessary, Lawrence Camp, chairman, said. He will be here to attend the meeting.

Rules and regulations to govern the primary and also rules for the permanent government of the committee were drafted at a meeting of several members of the subcommittee in Atlanta some weeks ago and these rules will be submitted to the committee for approval.

Another matter expected to be brought to the attention of the subcommittee is the dispute over the personnel of the sixth congressional executive committee, containing portions of the original sixth, eighth, tenth and twelfth districts.

Representative Carl Vinson, of the old tenth district, is expected to bring the matter to the attention of the committee.

Just what effect the death of Representative Samuel Rutherford, of the old sixth district, will have on the plans is not known here. Mr. Rutherford, who was an announced candidate for re-election, contended that the rules governing the congressional primary should be made by the old sixth district committee, appointed by him.

Mr. Vinson, however, contends that the state committee should call and govern the district primary, since the district committee was appointed by the representative of the old sixth district.

Judge R. Earl Camp, of Dublin, also a candidate for congress, contends that the existing congressional committees in all of the counties making up the new sixth district should form the new district committee.

The death of Mr. Rutherford left only two candidates in the field at the present time. Both of them—Mr. Vinson and Judge Camp—are residents of districts absorbed by the new sixth district.

It is expected that some candidate will offer from the old sixth district, possibly Macon, but no announcement has been made thus far.

WEST POINT FUNERAL FOR THOMAS GAUNT

WEST POINT, Ga., Feb. 4.—Funeral services for Thomas Gaunt, 19, who died Tuesday night at Emory University, were held at the home of his mother, Mrs. Martha Gaunt, Thursday afternoon. Rev. Hoke Shirley, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating.

The interment was in Marietta cemetery by the side of his father, the late Dr. Thomas G. Gaunt, West Point citizen and distinguished surgeon.

Pallbearers were the following members of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity, to which Thomas was pledged: Lamar Greene, West Point; Howard Leitner, Augusta; Edward Hill, Savannah; Melvin Bookholdt, Rome; Joseph Webb and Leonard Allen, Atlanta.

Other members of the fraternity from Emory who formed an honorary escort were William Harris, William Reynolds, Charles Shannon, Clarence Sudduth, William Spann, Edward Jones, Atlanta; Henry Price, Gene Anderson, Augusta; Edgar Evans, Bainbridge; and Adrian Howell, Rome.

State Deaths And Funerals

J. T. ELLIS. MACON, Ga., Feb. 4.—J. T. Ellis, 70, died tonight in a hospital. Mr. Ellis' first wife died five years ago, and in 1928 Mr. Ellis married Mrs. D. P. Evey, who survives him. He is also survived by two daughters and two sons, Mrs. A. H. Drury, Brunswick; Mrs. B. B. Black, Macon; Tom C. Ellis, Atlanta; and Ernest C. Ellis, Macon; a brother, W. S. Ellis, Macon; and 11 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon in the Bass church on the Forsyth road.

THOMAS N. MORGAN. MACON, Ga., Feb. 4.—Thomas N. Morgan, 70, a brother of T. Morgan, this city, died in Jacksonville Thursday night. Mr. Morgan moved from Macon about 20 years ago.

Mr. Morgan married Miss Elsie Stapp, his wife, who is survived by Mrs. J. G. Board, wife of a Methodist minister at Matanzas, Cuba; Mrs. Arthur Chapman, of Charlotte, N. C.; Thomas N. Morgan Jr., of South America; and Miss Elsie Morgan, of Jacksonville, a brother, W. T. Morgan, and a sister, Mrs. J. E. Bailey, both of this city. Five grandchildren also survive. The body will be taken to Atlanta, where the funeral will be held Saturday afternoon.

JOHN H. MCKENZIE. MONTICELLO, Ga., Feb. 4.—Funeral services for John H. McKenzie, 70, prominent citizen of Monticello, were held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Baptist church. He is survived by his wife, Ida Solomon McKenzie; three sons, Charles and William, of Monticello, and Ernest, of Atlanta; and three daughters, Mrs. A. W. Arnold, Monticello; Mrs. O. C. Gray, Atlanta; and Mrs. A. E. Pennington, Anderson. Two brothers also survive, Otis and Clyde McKenzie, both of Atlanta.

Interment was at Felton cemetery.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sick and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, or laxative candy or gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Often there are breaks out in the skin. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, assuring when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Demand a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

TWO MAYORS TO TALK AT SAVANNAH BANQUET

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 4.—(P)—Mayor John T. Alsop Jr., of Jacksonville, president of the Coastal States Co-ordinated, and Mayor Burnett Maybank, of Charleston, a vice president of the co-ordinated, today accepted invitations to address the membership dinner of the Chamber of Commerce to be held Monday evening, February 15, at the Hotel DeSoto, Mayor Hoynes, who is also a vice president of the co-ordinated, will present the visiting mayors. Between 500 and 400 people are expected to be in attendance, according to J. H. Winkler, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the occasion.

Mayor Alsop said he would be accompanied here by W. A. Elliott, manager of the Florida Times-Union; J. T. Daniels, manager of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce; W. L. Whitehead, public relations representative of the Paramount-Public Pictures Corporation, and others.

An outstanding feature of the meeting will be the presentation of the Lucas trophy to M. O. Dunning, United States collector of customs, and chairman of the board of the Coastal States Co-ordinated.

Following the meeting Mayor Hoynes, the visiting mayors, Mr. Dunning, Peter R. Nugent, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and other civic leaders are expected to leave for Columbia to attend the February meeting of the Coastal States Co-ordinated.

J. M. Glover, treasurer; J. J. Sanders, surveyor, and John Williams, coroner, were unopposed. The total vote of 6,735 was the largest in the history of Cobb county and the balloting was the most spirited seen here in years.

PUBLIC HEARING ASKED BY REMBERT G. SMITH

Suspended Minister Appears Today Before Church Committee on Appeals.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 4.—Suspended from the ministry for a year by the North Georgia conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, on charges of "gross imprudence and high unministerial conduct," the Rev. Dr. Rembert G. Smith, of Sparta, Ga., will appear before the committee on appeals of the church here tomorrow and request a reversal of the conference judgment.

The Georgia pastor will demand that the committee on appeals accord him a public hearing, to which newspapermen will be admitted, rather than the usual procedure of secret sessions.

"It has been the custom of the church to hold its trials in secret," Dr. Smith said, "supposedly for the protection of the accused. Secrecy in this case so far has not been a protection but a peril to me, and I do not wish any repetition of the element of secrecy in my case."

Remover in Brantley

NAHUNTA, Ga., Feb. 4.—(P)—In the democratic primary held in Brantley county Wednesday for clerk of the superior court and for ordinary, J. Morris Highsmith defeated the present clerk, J. R. James. John E. Lee defeated V. O. Stokes for ordinary. Ivey Dowling, present ordinary, did not run.

TWO VOTES DECIDE LONG COUNTY RACE

LUDOWICI, Ga., Feb. 4.—(P)—C. L. Middleton won the three-cornered race for tax collector of Long county today by the narrow plurality of 2 votes, receiving a total of 240, while James L. Chapman, present tax receiver, received 238 and A. R. Thous 178. The plurality rule was decided upon and no runner primary will be held.

T. F. Chapman was re-nominated for sheriff over W. R. Wilkinson, former sheriff, by a vote of 467 to 198. A. G. Pinkston, incumbent, was nominated for tax collector, receiving 490 votes, while his opponent, J. D. Groover, received 202. T. D. Houston was nominated for coroner. With one precinct incomplete in this contest, the vote stood: Houston 400, and C. W. Mueller 175.

Unopposed candidates were nominated as follows: Judge M. Price, of the Ludowici city court; M. F. Weaver, clerk of the superior court; Hugh M. Hodges, county school superintendent; T. J. Parish, ordinary, and M. C. Garrison, surveyor.

DUBLIN JUDGE SOUGHT FOR APPEALS BENCH

DUBLIN, Ga., Feb. 4.—Friends of Judge John S. Adams, of Dublin, are contemplating entering his name in the forthcoming democratic primary as a candidate for the place held by Judge O. H. B. Bloodworth on the first division of the Georgia court of appeals. Judge Adams served for a number of years as judge of the city court, voluntarily resigning that position to resume the active practice of law. When a division of the federal court was created a few years ago with Dublin as the center, Judge Adams was made referee in bankruptcy by Federal Judge Barrett. He

FORMER DRY INFORMER FINED IN LIQUOR CASE

Helen Respass, Macon, Convicted for Driving Auto While Drunk.

MACON, Ga., Feb. 4.—(P)—Miss Helen Respass, former prohibition informer here, today was convicted in the city court of Macon on a charge of driving an automobile while drunk last May 28 while federal officers were "rounding up" the victims of her "tips."

Judge Charles H. Hall sentenced her to serve 12 months on probation and pay a fine of $20; or to pay a fine of $100 without a probation term. The former sentence carried with it a penalty against driving an automobile during the probation term. She has not selected her alternative.

Miss Respass was arrested by city police last May and a number of charges preferred against her. For her violations of municipal ordinances during that escapade, she was fined upward of $90.

It was next day when federal officers arrested 14 alleged bootleggers, who, they said, had sold whisky to Miss Respass and an agent who accompanied her. Some of those arrested are now serving jail sentences.

Quickly Caught

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 4.—(P)—Jack Brooks, alias Jack Goldstein, alleged counterfeiter, was captured here today by United States Marshal Fred G. Flanders, two hours after secret service men, who were seeking Brooks, had shown pictures of the man to Mr. Flanders.

"Choosey" People like the way they TASTE...

ITS just what you'd expect. People who enjoy the good things of life...are constantly looking for something better to eat and drink...and smoke. Something that's out of the ordinary.

In cigarettes this better taste can come only from finer ingredients. Chesterfields are more satisfying to the cultivated palate...because there's never any attempt to skimp on Turkish leaf.

These more expensive...more richly flavored Turkish tobaccos are added with a generous hand...and 'choosey' people...everywhere...like the result.

In fact Chesterfield's new way of mingling tobacco flavors and aromas is really equivalent to creating an entirely new kind of tobacco...one that combines the best qualities of Turkish and fine Domestic leaf.

Perhaps you've noticed that the paper in Chesterfields is whiter...purer. Thousands of dollars were spent on research to perfect this paper. It burns without any taste or odor of its own. A detail, of course. But it adds immeasurably to your enjoyment.

Smoke Chesterfields whenever you like... They're mild and pure. They'll never tire you as an over-sweetened cigarette might easily do. Day in... day out... Chesterfields taste right. Light up and see for yourself. They satisfy!

Y.W.C.A. Holds Annual Meeting With Elaborate Program Tonight

"Miss Atlanta Y. W. C. A." will disclose the memories and hopes of the Atlanta Association this evening at 6:30 o'clock, when an elaborate program and supper will celebrate the annual meeting of the membership. Over 50 girls and women will take part on the program.

During the past week carpenters have been busy engaged in renovating the gymnasium and building a new stage, which is modern and convenient. A color scheme of green, white and yellow will prevail in the decorations, with tall white candles, daffodils, narcissi, ivy and fern forming the central motif for the tables.

Mrs. John J. Eagan, retiring president of the Y. W. C. A., will preside and tell briefly the significance of the occasion. The invocation will be pronounced by Dr. C. R. Stauffer, pastor of the First Christian church, and the "Open Door" by Miss Clara J. Jelen, general secretary. Following the introduction of new officers and board members, "Miss Atlanta Y. W. C. A." played by Miss Mildred Wells, will announce the program.

"Glimpses of the Past" or part I will picture sports, camp and Girl Reserve pleasures during the year. Introducing sports will be Miss Nell Chandler, basketball; Miss Ellen Maxwell, tap dance; Miss Loretta Wright, swimmer; Miss Cattie, gym, and Miss Embree, tennis. In the camp scene Miss Lillian Watkins, Miss Lois Toms, Miss Maggie Letson, Miss Louise McDewitt and Mrs. Ruby James will sing camp songs and tell stories typical of camp evenings. Reminiscences of a board member will give the public an opportunity to listen in at one of the heated forums so popular with Y girls. Miss Louise Reynolds, Miss Katherine Lee, Miss Billie Nolen, Miss Elizabeth Hudson and Mrs. Fannie Darby will argue "Shall Married Women Work?"

Appearing in the Girl Reserve ceremonial will be Misses Hazel Carter, Virginia Potts, Dorothy McDonald, Myrtle Weeks, Leslie Harris, Francis Hayes, Mary Nell Hern and Marjorie Wilder. A cozy bedroom scene will introduce Miss Dora Bacchus, Miss Edna Madden, Miss Brownie Stevenson, Miss Mary Hance and Miss Mary Grace Tys, who will describe life at the Y. W. C. A. residence, 82 Baker street, N. W. "We Testify" part 2 will reveal the following chapters: "A Committee Woman Grows," given by Mrs. Comer Woodward; "Industrial Girls Miss the Y," with Miss Mary Bales, Miss Darlene Moon, Miss Emma Kate Barge; "A Girl Reserve Learns to Live," with Miss Hazel Carter; "Business Girls Recruit for the Y," with Miss Mary Stevenson, Miss Nell Smith and Miss Naomi Myers. "Our Ideals and Our Goals" will comprise part 3, and will interpret the Y. W. C. A.'s hope for economic cooperation and the harmonious sharing between labor, capital and consumer. Those appearing in the first scenes are Miss Joyce Adams, Miss Kenneth Shields, Miss Alice Whitlock. Hopes for interracial understanding will be depicted in pantomime by Miss Thelma Towns, Miss Florence Miller, Miss Worley, Miss Emma Wells. Mrs. Blanche Keen, for friendly relations between nations will be given by Miss Ethel Moore. As a climax, "The Spirit of Life," played by Mrs. Lucille Austin, will invite each guest to live fully the more abundant life which the Y. W. C. A. offers. Miss Flora Hatcher will act as reader and conclude with an inspirational message, "We Believe."

Miss Ruth DuPree Weds Owen Poole

Miss Ruth DuPree and Owen Poole were married Saturday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church at 2:30 o'clock in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends. Dr. J. Spole Lyons officiated. The lovely bride was becomingly gowned in a traveling ensemble of blue silk, with accessories to match. Her flowers were sweetheart roses and valley lilies. Mr. and Mrs. Poole left for a motor trip to Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. Poole is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest DuPree, of Macon, Ga. Mr. Poole is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Poole, of Atlanta. On their return the young couple will make their home for the present with their parents at 747 Juniper street.

Atlanta Woman's Club Sponsors Dinner Feb. 12

Atlanta Woman's Club, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Frederick Rice, will give a Georgia products dinner Friday evening, February 12, at the clubhouse. Mrs. Rice will be assisted in making arrangements by Mrs. Harry C. Minier, co-chairman, and the members of her committee. Mrs. Rice is known for her support of Georgia products and in 1928, when she served as chairman of Georgia products for the city federation, initiated the custom of observing Georgia Day by the use of Georgia products.

Individual tables will be placed in the banquet hall for small groups and the dinner, which will be informal, will be served from 6 to 8 o'clock by a committee of young ladies under the supervision of Mrs. Minier and Mrs. Armatess Smith. Mrs. J. L. Hammack has arranged a program of music and dancing featuring the life of the old south.

Prominent among the honor guests will be former Governor John M. Slaton and Mrs. Slaton and Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Haden. Mr. Haden originated the Georgia Products Day movement and in October, 1913, Governor Slaton issued a proclamation urging the co-operation of the people in a statewide observance of the day.

Card tables will be placed in several rooms and anyone wishing to play cards after dinner is requested to bring pencil and cards. The dinner will be 75 cents per person and reservations may be made by telephoning Hemlock 4636 or Hemlock 4637.

Commercial High Class Benefit.

Forty-five grand prizes and a prize for each table will be awarded at a benefit bridge party to be held at Rieff's tea room by the post-graduate class of Commercial High Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Tea will be served.

Students who want the business training offered to post-graduates at the school, but who are financially unable to attend, are aided by this yearly fund which is raised by this party.

Admission is 50 cents per person, or $2 per table. Tickets may be secured from members of the class, or admission may be paid at the door.

Bridal Couple Feted At Driving Club Dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Inman Cooper will entertain a party at the dinner-dance at the Piedmont Driving Club Saturday evening in honor of Miss Katharine Howell and Joseph Cooper, whose marriage will be an interesting event of February 17, taking place at the First Presbyterian church.

Covers will be placed for Miss Howell, Mr. Cooper, Misses Frances Barnett, Palmer Dullin, Ann McClellan, Leon Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Orr, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Owens, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Foreman Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grady Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Carter Jr., Esmond Brady, Inman Brandon, Ed Hamm and Jim Robinson.

Arbeiter Concert.

Twenty-fourth annual Arbeiter Ring concert will be presented by Al Harris and Eugenia Argonova Sunday, February 7, at 8 o'clock at the Jewish Educational Alliance, for the benefit of the Jewish school. Al Harris is a well-known artist and interpreter of Schostakovich's humorous work.

Mr. Harris is making his eighth tour of America as a concert artist. Eugenia Argonova, who will appear with Mr. Harris, will present a program of songs, including selections from the Russian, German, English and Jewish folk songs.

Celebrates Birthday.

GRANTVILLE, Ga., Feb. 4.—E. Sims was the recipient Sunday of many gifts sent in observance of his sixty-fourth birthday. In his honor his wife was hostess at a mid-day dinner at their home in Grantville. The birthday was celebrated by Mrs. Walter Barnes and decorated by Mrs. S. E. Leigh, and another cake was brought by Mrs. H. E. McBrayer. Mr. Sims has lived in Grantville the whole 64 years and has hosts of friends here as well as throughout the state. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Sims Sr., Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Sims Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sims, Mrs. N. Shadish, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Irby, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. McBrayer and son, Billie; Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Berry and Tom Seals.

For Mrs. Keene.

Lewis Hase entertained informally at dinner Thursday evening at East Lake Country Club in honor of Mrs. M. Keene, of Baltimore, Md., who is visiting her son, John H. Keene. Seated at the tastefully decorated table were Mrs. Keene, the honored guest; Mr. and Mrs. Lionel H. Keene, Mrs. E. A. Schiller, Dr. and Mrs. Louis C. Roughlin, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Atkins and Mrs. Hase.

Weakness Tired Feeling

CARDUI has helped many women, as in a case described below by Mrs. B. F. Fogle, of Sulphur, La.: "I suffered a great deal from weakness and a very tired feeling. I was nervous and my back ached. I did not sleep at all well, so did not feel equal to my work when morning came. My sister told me that she thought Cardui would benefit me, and after I began taking it I could tell that it did help me. I rested much better, and felt better in every way. I took six bottles and it was quite a benefit to me."

FRIENDLY COUNSEL BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

When I was 14 years old I was taken out of school and put to work in an industrial plant.

My father has always made a good living and has never needed any help from his children, but in spite of that fact he took my weekly wages and never gave me back a cent. I have never had the clothes that my companions had, nor any spending money. I have quit work because the family moved four miles away from my job. My father says at me continually to go back to work. He wants me to walk four miles in the morning, work eight hours and then walk back four miles at night. I have no education, having left the seventh grade, and I could only do indoor work. I told him that if he would move back to our old home I would gladly get my job but he refuses on the ground that the surroundings are not as pleasant as they are here. Let me want to spend my days and my spare time on the road going back and forth to work. There is a young man of 21 that wants to marry me, but I don't love him enough to marry him and we are both too young to get married. Father said I would have to wait until I was 21 and there I am. If I should get married I know he will refuse to let me come home to see mother or to let her come to see me. What can I do? Should I leave home and try to find work? Or should I make it out at home until things change? It is too much of a problem for me.

A. B.

ANSWER:

You shouldn't get married, if you don't love the man. You wouldn't be better, but worse off. You shouldn't work all day and walk eight miles to and from work. You shouldn't leave home without a means of livelihood. That eliminates every suggestion but one to remain at home and endure the nagging of an unreasonable and unnatural father. Of all the evils that he forces you to face, it seems to me this is the least. There is no reason why you shouldn't study at home and supplement your education. Many a young person has educated herself with less of a financial sacrifice. Perhaps they can guide you.

Excessive love of money may be a brutalizing force in the life of a man. It will sometimes make him regard his own children as no pleasure in life for those children until they are separated from him. Many a daughter is forced into a loveless marriage as a result of pressure brought to bear upon her by such a father. But she jumps from the frying pan into the fire when she seeks that means of escape. Even when she is separated from something or somebody, and often the best means is to stand your ground and wait for a good break. While you are standing you can prepare yourself to make a real, and not an imaginary, escape. Study your best preparation, and you will not be content to loaf. And since there is no opportunity for work with monetary gain, you can create the opportunity for work with another sort of gain.

DeKalb Women Voters Will Investigate Jail

Concerned over newspaper reports that the DeKalb jail has been declared unfit for use for federal short-term prisoners, the local League of Women Voters appointed a committee to investigate reports of irregularities and reports to that body at its monthly meeting today at 3 o'clock at the courthouse.

Candler W. Butler will speak on the subject at the business meeting, and important matters will be discussed as follows: "DeKalb Juvenile Court," a committee to study present conditions in the juvenile court, and "County Finances," based on the auditor's report as carried in the New Era, and local educational affairs.

January, the DeKalb league in co-operation with the organization of parents and teachers, studied child welfare and education, holding a meeting at Anne Scott College, and discussed group meetings at league headquarters, 204 Winona drive, Decatur. The Women's Christian Temperance Union, of Decatur, Mrs. W. W. Laffingwell, president, will give the educational program at Friday's meeting, the subject being, "Points in Common Between the Citizenship Program of the League of Women Voters and the W. C. T. U."

Mrs. Wellington Stevenson, president of the DeKalb league, calls attention to the Institute of Citizenship at Emory University beginning at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, February 9, and continuing through Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, as the greatest opportunity for women to have for instruction in citizenship. The DeKalb league co-operates with the university in putting on this institute and every member has a particular responsibility in making it a success.

Appointment of Mrs. John R. Stevens, child welfare chairman; Mrs. A. J. Woodruff, hospital chairman; Mrs. B. Richards, study group; and hostesses, Mrs. W. R. Simpson, Mrs. F. A. Rice and Mrs. Max Flynn, will be announced by the president. Visitors are always welcome at the DeKalb league meetings.

Miss DeSaussure Is Honor Guest.

Mrs. S. F. Boykin was hostess yesterday at a luncheon at her home on Andrews drive honoring Miss Sarah DeSaussure, lovely bride-elect. Assisting in entertaining was Mrs. R. C. DeSaussure, mother of the bride.

Covers were placed for Misses DeSaussure, Frances Barnett, Teresa Wade Atkinson, Mary Lawrence, Hand Stone, Phoebe Rhett, Ruth Rowbotham, Eugenia Candler, Mary Goddard, Mrs. Lewis Little, Mrs. Payson Kennedy and Mrs. R. C. DeSaussure.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. Phil Trimble will entertain at a children's party this afternoon at her home on Collier road in honor of her little son, Chancellor, who will celebrate his sixth birthday. The Valentine idea will be carried out in the decorations and in the games and contests to be played by the young honor guests and his 18 little friends.

Brooklyn Girl Found Murdered in Cellar.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(AP)—A five-year-old Brooklyn girl, Florence McDonnell, was found dead in a cellar today in a Brooklyn cellar.

She had been missing from her home since yesterday and every available Brooklyn policeman, aided by floodlights, had searched cellars, alleys and housepots all night.

A widespread search for a maniac was started. He was believed to have murdered another Brooklyn child last year and attacked three others within the last two months.

DANNY MEADOW MOUSE RUBS HIS EYES.
BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Most people in their eyes believe and doubt that ever can deceive day. —Danny Meadow Mouse.

This is simply Danny's way of saying that most people have perfect faith in their eyes and believe that they see what they believe. But this is not true. We're not true eyes would be of little use. Yet eyes sometimes are deceived. Again, just the opposite of what we believe, but they see what they see. It is so strange that their possessor refuses to believe them. In short, he doubts his own eyes. Just this thing happened to Danny Meadow Mouse.

He saw nothing to cause him alarm, and had just about made up his mind to climb out when a shadow drifted across the white snow and he held his way off. Danny didn't need to look up to find out who made that shadow. It was the shadow of a bird with broad wings. Danny held his breath and didn't move so much as a whisker. "Hoity hoity!" he exclaimed under his breath. "It's lucky for me that I saw that shadow when I did. Just a wee minute more and I would have been out there. Well, he won't stay long; he likes the Green Forest best."

Danny remained just where he was, not moving so much as a whisker. In a few minutes that shadow returned and the maker of it slipped out from under just a little way from Danny, and back to him. As Danny saw those broad wings he hadn't time to think of his eyes. He held his way off. Danny didn't need to look up to find out who made that shadow. It was the shadow of a bird with broad wings. Danny held his breath and didn't move so much as a whisker. "Hoity hoity!" he exclaimed under his breath. "It's lucky for me that I saw that shadow when I did. ## TARZAN AND THE ANT MEN No. 11

Immediately the others beheld the approaching woman-thing bearing the unconscious ape-man, several of them arose and came to meet her. None of them uttered a sound. The strange creature moved straight along her way toward one of the cave mouths. Gripping her budgeon firmly, she swung it to and fro, while her eyes watched shrewdly every move of her fellows—all females. She had approached close to the cave which evidently was her destination, when one of the shrewdly darted and clutched at Tarzan.

Mark Bolding, of the law firm of Howell, Heyman & Bolding, has been appointed solicitor-general pro tem, to prosecute the charge of false swearing against W. E. "Butch" Saunders, former councilman now serving sentence for burglary in the Georgia State Prison. Saunders was arrested Thursday night at the Seville restaurant. Fred Mylius acted as last-minute defense.

South Side Civic Federation's executive committee held a meeting at the Jefferson hotel at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night at which matters of importance were discussed. Several recommendations will be made to the federation by the committee at its next regular meeting, it was announced by Roy Brooks, secretary.

Another 511 persons registered Thursday at the city hall and are qualified to vote in any municipal election to be held this year. A return was that the same number of the person registered Wednesday. The total number now registered hits the 12,000 mark, according to J. Henson Tatum, city clerk and registrar.

Row over the permit for construction of the new postoffice building hung fire Thursday as Captain Daniels, chief of construction of the United States treasury department, prepared to seek another ruling from City Attorney James L. Mayson in view of federal statutes. C. J. Bowen, city building inspector, has agreed to defer making a case against contractors pending a decision from the city attorney on the new angle. The permit would cost about $270.

There will be an old-fashioned square dance at Sweetwater park tonight, lasting from 7 until 11 o'clock.

Junior Chamber of Commerce members Thursday afternoon made a tour of the new Citizens & Southern bank as the guests of Alva G. Maxwell, who was in town to speak at the club a few minutes before taking the industrial tour. Mr. Maxwell spoke to the Jaycees on the subject "Sidekicks on Banking." The address, a brief one, was delivered at a weekly luncheon at which a program of song and dance was furnished by Dorris Corrie, Elissa Lee and Eugene Holmes.

Ed L. Almond, candidate for Fulton county commission subject to the county democratic primary of March 14, Thursday night to support him. He said his platform is based solely on an honest, economical administration. He favored liberal treatment of Battle Hill and Grady hospital at the hands of the board.

"Forgotten Women," with Marion Shilling and Rex Bell, will be the feature picture to be exhibited Sunday night at the Paramount theater in the Sunday theater program. Mrs. M. H. Margee, director of the sewing room of the women's division of Mayor James L. Mayson's emergency relief committee, said Thursday. Doors of the theater are slated to open at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and a continuous performance will be given until 11 o'clock Sunday night.

A total of $1 undefended divorce cases were heard before Judge Virlyn B. Moore in Fulton superior court on Thursday. Of this number 22 were second or final verdicts, and 49 were first decrees.

A Jack McCoy, Bartow county court bailiff who was placed under a $1,000 bond for involuntary manslaughter by a Dallas justice of the peace Wednesday when given a hearing on a murder warrant for the shooting of Lee Crow during a still raid will be tried in federal district court here if indicted by a grand jury. McCoy, who was indicted Thursday, was pointed out, fired in defense of prohibition agent Gordon Rogers, who was struggling with Crow. Because of the federal angle the case can be brought here if a true bill is made against McCoy, and the district attorney's office will defend him.

A verdict placing the value of stock at $270.19 a share was returned in the case of E. D. Kennedy vs. J. T. Rose, collector of internal revenue, in federal district court Thursday. Kennedy was seeking to show that he had been overtaxed.

Federal district court Thursday began the hearing of its equity docket with the first case called that of Sidney

Wells serves notice. Councilman James L. Wells, chairman of the finance committee, told council Thursday afternoon that Atlanta banks would not come in a sheet which restricted public service. He informed council that the banks would approve a sheet which he certified that he could not certify any sheet which curtailed the service to which "public is justly entitled."

In addition to the major changes in the amended sheet, the following deductions were made from various accounts of the first sheet which the finance committee has maintained:

Legal advertising $1,500; Georgia Tech $12,000; Carnegie Library $20,000 and painting of bridges $800. Total $37,300. A total of $50,000 also was taken from the contingency fund, making a grand total of $72,300. Additional salaries for firemen were set up at $11,100 and schools got the remaining sum in the appropriation itemization.

When the session opened, the veto of Mayor James L. Key to the sheet passed Monday was read aloud. A letter from J. Ira Harrelson.

school board is responsible for where the money is spent?"

The Richards amendment was lost by a vote of 16 to 14.

Mayor Pro Tem. Murphy refused to entertain a resolution by Rank calling for the distribution of $100,000 in the treasury on a pro rata basis by Saturday, holding that the resolution was not authorized in the call for the special meeting.

Councilman Berman's amendment, declaring that the donations of salaries would be temporary and not affect pensions and that the donations would be reimbursed when revenue warrants, was adopted.

Councilman Lyle charged that the construction department would be practically eliminated by the Wells sheet, and that the rock quarry and asphalt plant would be cut out. He said that the stockpile, without work to do, would fatten at the city's expense under the construction department, and, he said.

"I do not see how the street department will be able to operate," Lyle said.

"The sheet contains $5,000 per ward in the streets ordinary fund," Lyle said.

"Was Chief Donaldson consulted about the elimination of employees in his department?" Lyle asked.

"He was not," Wells said. "But at the next meeting of the finance committee, he can, if he wishes, have the personnel of his department readjusted. I would be the first one to vote for it."

Councilman Barrett declared that it was not fair for Councilman Wells and Alderman Gilliam to go to the budget and say that the sheet was not fair for Wells to tell council. "I don't care what you do. I won't O. K. it. If council passes a sheet, he should abide by the results. This sheet doesn't treat Chief Donaldson right. When we have to depend on one man, we don't look like sincerity. We look like a bunch of boys."

"We do not have a city manager. In fact, the people voted down a proposition for a city manager. It is not fair for Wells to tell council. I don't care what you do. I won't O. K. it. If council passes a sheet, he should abide by the results. This sheet doesn't treat Chief Donaldson right. When we have to depend on one man, we don't look like sincerity. We look like a bunch of boys."

"We're not getting anywhere," said Councilman Wells. "I move that we go into executive session. A committee of the whole and adjust the sheet."

"If we forget about this 10 per cent cut business, we can find the money somewhere," Alderman J. E. Bowden declared.

Councilman J. E. Weaver, of the second ward, offered a new sheet which, he declared, would contain no salary cuts, would be legal and would be a reduction of about 10 per cent. He should be worked out by the finance chairman.

Councilman Lyle again brought up the subject of the construction department personnel reduction. This is an important matter, he said, and he should be worked out by the finance chairman.

"As a man I move that we go into executive session," said White. "I move that we go into executive session. A committee of the whole and adjust the sheet."

A vote on the Wells sheet followed, the sheet carrying, 13 to 11.

RECALL OF MAYOR KEY
URGED BY HARRELSON
Advising parents of Atlanta school students, J. Ira Harrelson, president of the Atlanta board of education, said in a statement Thursday that he had signed a recall petition against Mayor James L. Key, based on his action on adoption of the budget by council, which he contended would curtail educational activities and force a 20 per cent cut on school employees.

Texts of his statement follow: "After council approved the finance committee's budget demanded by the mayor and the banks this afternoon, I cheerfully signed the recall petition being circulated against the mayor, and I advise all mothers and fathers who are interested in our public school system to do likewise."

"There are 325 employees of the board of education who now receive less than $100 per month, and when a 20 per centum further reduction is imposed upon them there will be that number who will receive less than $80 per month. Atlanta ranks as one of the six best public schools in the United States, and we have maintained this standard of excellence at a cost of about $98 per pupil per year as against a national average of $112 per pupil per year. Our cities have a population in excess of 100,000. The proposed cut will place Atlanta about $17 per pupil cost below any other city in the class in America, and will completely demoralize our school system. There are only two of such cities whose per pupil costs is lower than ours, and even without the 20 per cent proposed cut."

"I will speak on the subject of schools at 7:30 p. m. Friday, February 5, in the Forrest Avenue auditorium. The public is invited."
